New Steam Flouring Mills at Auction.
THE undersigned assignees of Keiser & Alvord, for the purpose of executing the trust confided to them, will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, on the premises, on SATURDAY, the 11th of October, 1858, the STEAM FLOURING MILL recently erected in the city by Keiser & Alvord. This Mill is now in complete order, and in it there are three pair of burr stones, a first-rate smut mill, and all the machinery necessary to run the same. It is now in operation and is turning out 100 barrels of flour per day, and is not surpassed in the character of its work by any Mill in the State.

This Mill is situated in the city of Lexington, in a large and well arranged brick building on Water street, convenient to the railroad depots, which is under a lease of near five years, and the lease will be sold with the Mill. It is confidently believed that a better opportunity for a safe and profitable investment is not now presented to the public.

The terms of the sale will be one-fourth of the purchase money in hand and the remainder in 6, 12, and 18 months, without interest, a lien upon the property being reserved to secure the deferred payments.

Sale to take place at 11 o'clock A. M.

OHIO
MOWER.

AULTMAN & MILLER'S PATENT,
WITH FOLDING BAR,
AWARDED FIRST PREMIUM,
The Grand Gold Medal and Diploma,
AS BEST MOWER,
At the Great National Trial at Syracuse,
N. Y., July, 1857.

The attention of Farmers is invited to the above celebrated Mower, which presents many advantages over all other machines. It has two driving wheels, which act together or separately, keeping the knives in motion in turning to the right or left. A double hinge joint connects the cutter bar to the frame, allowing it to conform to all uneven surfaces of the ground, and when not in use to be folded over the front of the machine, rendering it as portable as any two wheeled vehicle.

Its light draft, freedom from side draft, simple, durable, easily managed works well in any grass, is safe for the driver, and is in all its parts the most complete Mower ever offered to the farmer. Circulars forwarded on application. For sale by Valuable Land for Sale.

I offer to sell 670 acres of Land near Bardstown, and part of the home tract of the late Ben. Hardin. The land is of superior quality, bounded by the Beech Fork on one side. There are between 100 and 200 acres of bottom land—a part cleared—the greater and best part an untouched forest of timber, which may by means of boats be conveyed to the turnpike road. Rising from the river there is a second bottom of land surpassed by none in the country. From the second bottom an easy ascent is made to the table land, which, gently undulating, presents a favorable surface for cultivation and in quality not surpassed in Nelson county. The timber, consisting of poplar in great abundance, black walnut, blue ash, beech, and sugartree, presents, combining water, timber, locality, and the means of transportation, at present and in expectation, one of the best locations for a steam saw mill in the State. Such a mill would be located on the tract two or two and a half miles from Bardstown. The Beech Fork is often navigable for crafts. A turnpike to New Haven at 12 miles reaching the railroad. A turnpike from Bardstown to Louisville with fair prospects of a railroad to intersect the L. & N. R. R. The top lands are admirably adapted to the culture of the most profitable grasses, timothy, orchard and bluegrass, clover, and corn—the table land for the higher grains, and from its elevation adapted to the culture of fruits of every description and the grape. There is now on it an orchard of several hundred peach trees of choice selection.

The land is divided into two separate tracts, one adjoining Wood's Mill tract, containing 340 and the other 330 acres. Each tract is susceptible of several subdivisions, which could be supplied by fine bold-running springs of water.

No town in the State, including the vicinity, better supplied with schools, male and female, than Bardstown. Combining a great number of causes, it is a most desirable location for a residence.

T. P. Linthicum is my agent at Bardstown, who will on application show the land. I will be at Bardstown on the fourth Monday in September, circuit court.
JOHN L. HELM.

AGUE AND FEVER OR CHILLS AND FEVER
SPEEDILY CURED BY
Smith's Tonic Syrup.

THE attention of dealers in Drugs and Medicines and persons afflicted with Chills and Fever or Ague and Fever is respectfully invited to this celebrated medicine, which has acquired a high reputation throughout the country, and for many years has maintained its superiority over all other remedies now in use, certain, speedy, and permanent cure for Chills and Fever or Ague and Fever.

The public may rely upon the fact that it is entirely vegetable in its composition, and made from the best, purest, carefully selected reliable articles, and is always prepared by the proprietor in person, and therefore he can warrant it uniform in quality.

Its Diaphoretic and Alterative properties combined with its great Tonic qualities render it eminently superior to Quinine and other remedies as a general and popular remedy in all cases where a Tonic is required and proper to be administered.

It does not produce Headache, Giddiness, Buzzing of the Ears, or any of the unpleasant effects which so frequently attend the use of Quinine or other remedies, but may be given in all cases and under all circumstances whatever to Females, Infants, and all persons who are debilitated or have the most delicate constitutions, without the least apprehension of any injurious or even unpleasant effect.

Practitioners of medicine who have not prescribed it, and afflicted persons who have not used it, are respectfully invited to give it but a fair trial, and they will then be convinced of its great superiority over other remedies and that it possesses all the virtues claimed for it.

It is not only perfectly safe and innocent in its effect, but in no case whatever has it been known to fail in curing Chills and Fever or Ague and Fever, whether of short or long standing, if the directions were strictly followed and carried out.

This medicine has become a staple remedy and for [illegible] in the States of Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and Canada, as well as in Kansas Territory, and has permanently cured near 2,000,000 of cases in all its varied forms and [illegible] many of which were from one to three years' standing, and had resisted all the usual remedies known in the country, and in no case did it fail to make a perfect and permanent cure where the directions were properly followed, such is its invariable success that it has gained the confidence, favor, and patronage of a large number of respectable practitioners of medicine throughout the country, who prescribe and administer it in preference to Quinine and other remedies.

Persons living in districts of country subject to Chills and Fever, Ague and Fever, or Bilious Fever would do well to keep a constant supply of this invaluable remedy always on hand.

The proprietor has in his possession a large number of certificates and other testimonials from persons who have used this medicine as well as from Physicians, Druggists, Apothecaries, and other Dealers in medicine attesting its superior virtues as a curative in Chills and Fever or Ague and Fever, and he could obtain many thousands more, enough to fill up a large volume, but he does not deem it necessary, as it is already extensively and favorably known to the public generally.

PATENT
Splint Brooms.
THIS is an entirely new article, and is adapted to all kinds of sweeping. It possesses many advantages over the ordinary Corn Broom, as the material of which it is made is much more durable. One of these Brooms will out last half a dozen Corn Brooms, besides doing the work in a superior manner. It does not curl up or run off one side as the ordinary corn broom does. It is admirably adapted for heavy sweeping, as yards, walks, steamboats, stores, and ware-rooms, and for scrubbing, also for general housekeeping.

MEDICAL.
PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE ON THE PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE.
250 Pages and 130 Fine Plates and Colored Lithographs and Engravings. Price Only Twenty-Five Cents.
Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union.

A NEW AND REVISED EDITION. 250 pages and 130 plates. Price 25 cents a copy. A popular and comprehensive Treatise on the duties and casualties of single and married life—happy and fruitful alliances, a moral and medical view of marriage—their causes and removal, nervous debility; its causes and cure, by a process at once easy, simple, safe, and effectual, that failure is impossible—rules for daily management, an essay on Spermatorrhea, with practical observations on a safer and a more successful modern treatment, precautionary hints on the evils resulting from empirical practices; to which is added comments on the diseases of females from infancy to old age, each case graphically illustrated by beautiful plates. It points out the remedies for those self-inflicted miseries and disappointed hopes so unfortunately prevalent in the young. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage. Its perusal is particularly recommended to persons entertaining secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and privileges to which every human being is entitled to. Price 25 cents per copy or five copies for one dollar. Mailed free of postage to any part of the United States, by addressing Dr. Lockrow (post paid), Albany, New York, enclosing 25 cents.

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY,
THORN'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF
COPAIBA AND SARSAPARILLA,
Possesses advantages not enjoyed by any other medicine for the cure of Sexual Diseases, and which cannot, with an enlightened public, render it assuredly highly popular and a destination long sought for in the medical world. It needs no confinement or change of diet. In its approved form, that of paste, it is entirely tasteless and causes no unpleasant sensation to the patient.

It has acquired the utmost fame in almost every part of Europe. It has been examined, approved of, and sanctioned by the faculty of medicine and recommended by the most eminent of the profession.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

From the New York Times we copy the following account of the four-mile race run over the Fashion Course, L. I., on Monday. The entries were Lizzie McDonald, (formerly Sue Washington) Nicholas I. and Tar River:

Before the horses were called up Lizzie was the favorite with many, who offered odds that she would win. Nicholas I had backers, but offers of $50 to $100 that he would not win the race were not taken until after the second heat. Tar River had a few advocates, but they were cautious in the matter of betting. At 2¾ the drum beat for the start, and, as they came very well together to the line, they received the order to go, and away they went, Tar River leading, Nicholas I about a length behind him, and Lizzie McDonald about two lengths in the rear. Tar River led home on the fourth mile in 7:5[illegible], and the others following as they started off.

On the second heat Nicholas led, Tar River next, and Lizzie behind. Nicholas maintained his distance some [illegible] lengths [illegible] the first quarter; even bets [illegible] were offered and some were taken. [illegible] the third quarter and Tar River [illegible] the race a second time, with Lizzie [illegible] some [illegible] lengths behind. The friends of [illegible] were enthusiastic. There were shouts for Nicholas and [illegible] for Tar River.

They passed the stand amid a general shout, with Nicholas [illegible]. The second mile was like the first, and so was the third, with the interest, if possible, increasing as they neared the home stretch, when it was apparent that Lizzie's rider was urging her to the utmost, without effecting any perceptible change in her position. Nicholas and Tar River passed the stand as before, but Lizzie instead of passing onward for the last mile, came nearly to a halt. Those who had risked their money on her were loud in their denunciations of her rider—they remembered that the same thing had been done before. [illegible] Her rider looked around—then turned and was off again. But it was too far behind to save himself. Lizzie was distanced, and Nicholas won the heat in 7:[illegible].

It was some time before the temper of the meeting was restored. There were various statements as to the cause of the trouble. It was hinted that the rider had "received his instructions," but as it was known to many that the owner of the horse had staked heavily on her success, that was not credited. Others held that the rider thought he was on his fourth instead of his third mile, while the rider himself said Lizzie bolted of her own account, and that he turned her on as soon as possible, and did the best he could to save her. For this heat Nicholas ran the first two miles in 7:56, and the first three miles in 5:2[illegible], the shortest time for the same number of miles ever made on Long Island.

With the old turfmen, the action or lack of it on the part of Lizzie settled the race. One hundred to twenty that Nicholas would win was offered with no takers. On the last heat Tar River showed signs of fatigue, and it was not then hit that he would do well another heat. But, though he did not win, he surprised them all by coming home from the last only a few lengths behind. Nicholas won the heat in 7:[illegible], and the race.

Mr. Ten Broeck's American horse Prioress won the great Yorkshire handicap at Doncaster races. Twelve horses ran, but their pretensions were generally moderate. The Great St. Leger was to be run for on the day the City of Washington sailed. Lord Derby's horse Toxophilite continued first favorite at short odds.

The following is the official note of the race won by Prioress:

The Great Yorkshire Handicap, of 25 sovs. each, 15 ft. and 5 only if declared, with 100 added. St. Leger Course.
Mr. R. Ten Broeck's Prioress, by Sovereign, out of Reel, 5 yrs., 7 st. 3 lb. ... (Fordham) 1
Mr. R. Lawley nd. Queenstown, 3 yrs., 6 st. 4 lb. ... (Custance) ... 2
Lord Glasgow's R. to Bird-on-the-Wing 5 yrs., 7 st. 6 lb. (Chaloner) ... 3
Mr. Saxon ns. Prince of Denmark, 4 yrs., 5 st. 1 lb. (Bottom) ... 4
Capt. Christie's Orchehill, 3 yrs., 6 st. 6 lb. ... (Bray) ... 5
Mr. J. Jackson ns. Night Ranger, 4 yrs., 5 st. 2 lb. (Grimshaw) ... 6
Mr. Crawford's Zaider Zee, 4 yrs., 6 st. ... (Wells) 7
Mr. J. Gibbs' Young Hopeful, 4 yrs., 6 st. ... (Pritchard)
Baron Rothschild's Scribbler, 3 yrs., 5 st. 5 lb. (Edwards)
Mr. Clark's Son-le-Western, 4 yrs., 5 st. ... (Maldern) 0
Mr. J. La Mert's Dumfries, 5 yrs., 5 st. 3 lb. ... (Woodhouse) ... 0
Sir R. W. Bulkeley's Syllabus, 4 yrs., 5 l. ... (Dallets) 0

Betting: 5 to 1 against Prince of Denmark, 6 to 1 each against Prioress and Orchehill, 7 to 1 against Scribbler, 8 to 1 against Zuyder Zee, 10 to 1 against Night Ranger, and 100 to 6 against Brother to Bird-on-the-Wing. Orchehill jumped off with the lead, Brother to Bird-on-the-Wing being second, Prince of Denmark third, Dumfries fourth, and Prioress fifth, Zuyder Zee being considerably in the rear of everything in the race, except Scribbler, who refused to go, and was left at the post. Very little change took place until arriving at the Red House, when the lot, with the exception of Zuyder Zee, were well together. Upon arriving about a quarter of a mile from home, Prioress had a decided lead, was never afterwards headed, and won very easily by four lengths. Brother to Bird-on-the-Wing was third, being beaten by about six lengths from Queenstown, who was second. The others came straggling in. South-Western, Syllabus, and Dumfries were beaten off.

Patrick O'Flaherty was found Sunday night, seated on the steps of the front door of Bridget Maloney's humble cot, and, in the opinion of the conservator of the city's quiet who watched in that beat, making night hideous with his discordant howling. Upon being admonished that he was offending against the rules and regulations of the corporation, he became incensed with indignation, swore that no "jintleman would interfere wid a man making lov to his swate-heart," and made a pass at the watchman for a test of the "manly art of self-defence." Watchman, not relishing such sport, called for aid, and soon had Pat in the lock-up, where he had a chance to sleep off his potations, and dream of his adorable Bridget. In the Recorder's court the next morning he appeared rather humble, but still indignant.

"What is your offence, Pat?" asked the dispenser of fines.

"Jist nothing at all, yer honor."

"He was found," interposed the watchman who arrested him, "making a noise, and when spoken to about it showed fight."

"Making a noise! and do you call that making a noise?—(sings)

Och! Biddy, mavourneen, just open the winder,
And give me a glimpse av yer beautiful face;
My poor ould heart is all burnt to a cinder,
And bogs are quite thick in this murthering place.

Yer honor, and yer call that a noise. Faith I was serynading my beautiful Bridget, and yer perliceman calls it a noise!"

"Pat, you appear to be in good voice this morning. You sing like a mocking bird. Bridget couldn't withstand that."

"Niver a moment yer honor; she likes it better than the divil does hot whisky punch. It never fails to bring her to me arms. (sings)

Sure, Biddy, my girl, it's no joke for a gintleman,
To walk all the day 'nath a totherin' hod,
And then, in the night, to serenade a young Vanions,
Close up to his knees, in the muddy ould sod.

I'm dyin' with rapture, my jewel of craturs,
And never a lover more willingly be wed;
But don't let scorn wrinkle up your swate fatures,
Because your poor Paddy has got such a cowld.

The lightnin' is a-rain', the thunder's flashin',
The moon is no bigger than nothin' at all,
And, och! my entrancin' and divinest splashin'
I never did hear since the days I was small.

Then open the winder, my queen av affection,
Or, what is as good, jist open the door;
Nor dhrame that you're sure of escapin' detection
I know ye're awake, by the length av your shnore!

"That'll do, Pat. You haven't taken out a license to give a public concert, and I shall have to fine you if you sing any more."

He was fined $5 and costs for "making a noise and showing fight," which he paid and left, muttering something about "poor divils that know nothing of music."

We are not in the habit of reporting police scenes, and only report this from fear that the public might not get a chance otherwise to enjoy it.

ECCLESIASTICAL TROUBLES.—The London journals by the Niagara devote columns and columns to the "confessional," which is getting to be one of the most exciting questions of the day all through England. The 23d instant had been fixed for the opening of the commission of inquiry into the charges brought against the Rev. Mr. West, of Boynhill Church. Those charges are similar to those preferred against Rev. Mr. Poole, of St. Barnabas. The Times has a column or two of communications, asking such questions as these:

"Is it true that in some dioceses the 'powers that be' insist that the parochial clergy shall make use of what is termed a Speculum Gregis, viz: a book in which they are required to record the names, habits, pursuits, associates, &c., of all their parishioners, male and female, more particularly the poorer sort? I am given to understand that such records were periodically required from the Romish priests during the palmy days of the Inquisition. If such a practice prevails in the Protestant Church of England at the present time, is it not a great stride toward the Confessional? I am, sir, your obedient servant,

"AN INQUIRING CLERGYMAN."

The Daily News thinks there is "a crisis coming" in the Established Church—the results of which, religious and political, it is impossible just now to calculate. As an offset to the above from an Inquiring Clergyman, we have the following in the News:

"As the words of the prayer book at present stand, any clergyman who feels it his duty to do so is authorized both to receive the confessions of all who choose to come to him and to give them absolution in the words of the service for the Visitation of the Sick. Is it forgotten that the apologists for the Church of England have always maintained against the Jesuits, that her priests had exactly the same authority as those of Rome to absolve in the name of Christ, and that (to use the words of Archbishop Usher) the Church of England refused no sort of confession, either public or private? The fact is that the only difference between the doctrine of the two Churches on this point is, that in the Roman Church confession is compulsory, while in the English Church it is not."

The Times takes strong ground against the High Church party. The Daily News, though proverbially evangelical in its tendencies, appears to lean the other way.

IMPORTANT DECISION—In re Property Marital.—Is a colt en ventre sa mere on an equality with an infant in the same interesting condition? This important question has been before a Georgia court. The Hawkinsville Times says:

It seems that John Hynes, Sr., had sued and obtained judgment vs. John Hynes, Jr., from which judgment a fi. fa. was issued and placed in the hands of John T. Smith, a constable, for the purpose of making the money. In obedience to the injunction contained in the fi. fa. the constable proceeded to defendant's, and seized a mare and colt for the purpose of bringing to sale in satisfaction of the execution. Defendant filed an affidavit of illegality to the levy, upon the ground that the colt was not subject to the fi. fa., alleging as reason, and the only reason, that the fi. fa. was older than colt. Evidence was introduced which proved that the judgment from which the fi. fa. was issued was just three days older than the colt.

After great display of oratory, eloquence, legal lore, and logic in discussing the subject of judgment liens, construction of statutes, &c., by counsel on both sides, the court, composed of two sprigs of our judiciary, with much dignity and solemnity, announced it to be their opinion that the statute which declares all the defendant's property shall be bound from the signing of the judgment, meant that the property which he then had, and not that which be subsequently acquired, and that, as the execution was three days older than the colt, the levy must be dismissed. In accordance with which opinion, defendant's attorney drew the order amidst considerable confusion and some swearing by opposite counsel.

LITTLE GIRL HUNG.—A frightful accident occurred on Wednesday last, near the village of Friendship, Allegheny county, on the New York and Erie Railroad. A woman named Guilford started with a little girl about five years of age, after locking up the house, to visit one of her neighbors. After proceeding a short distance the mother remembered something which she had left behind her in the house, and sent the little girl back after it, while she walked on. Arrived at her place of destination, she waited a long time, but the girl did not appear, and she returned home. On reaching home, she found the body of her daughter hanging from the window outside and dead. It appeared that the little girl, unable to effect an entrance by the door, had raised the window, and, while endeavoring to crawl in, it had fallen upon her neck and held her fast until life was extinct.

A story about the "Dauphin" Williams appears in the Buffalo Commercial, to the effect that, many years ago, the reverend gentleman applied to an Oneida soothsayer, to know whether his claims would be acknowledged, and when. The prophet told him that the time would come when they would be admitted, should Williams live long enough. "You will live long," said the prophet; "as long as this house shall stand; but that you will live until the day and hour shall come, I cannot say." The teacher glanced at the solid timbers of his house with exultation, asking no longer time for life than should be accorded to the solid walls that encompassed him. It is said that this house was torn down on the day of Williams' death. He had not lived long enough to solve the mystery.

FOREIGN ITEMS.

A correspondent says: "On Saturday an English proscrit, for whose capture, not many months ago, the government offered a reward of £200 in vain, turned up again when least expected. At 1 o'clock on Saturday the writer took rail at London-bridge to Blackheath, intending to go from thence to Eltham by coach. As he entered the coach at Blackheath, a tall, elderly man got up outside immediately behind the driver. His appearance was not such as to attract any marked attention; but, some time afterwards, when his name oozed out, he became, for the moment, an object of general interest. He had an anxious, care-worn look, and well he might, for he had been some six months a fugitive from justice; in short, he was no other than Thomas Allsop. On arriving at the village of Eltham, he alighted at the entrance to a row of neat little semi-detached houses, into one of which he entered. This was the residence of his son, with whom he is staying at present.

A Sheffield telegram, dated Monday night, says: "A fearful calamity has just occurred at the Surrey Music Hall, an immense building, capable of holding over 4,000 persons, where a variety of amusements are carried on. The place was much crowded, when some villain in the gallery fired a pistol, evidently with a view of creating alarm. The proprietor instantly appeared upon the stage, and succeeded for some time in persuading the people to keep their seats; but, in a few minutes, three or four men simultaneously rose in the gallery, and cried, 'the place is on fire,' upon which there ensued a fearful scene. The audience, principally young persons, frantically rushed for the outlets, and many jumped over the gallery front into the pit. In the struggle six persons were crushed to death, a seventh was removed to the infirmary in a dying state, and many others were seriously injured. This disastrous affair most clearly results from a conspiracy, as there were not the slightest signs of any fire in the place."

The Lyons silk market continued to improve, and prices had further advanced. This favorable movement is in a great measure ascribed to the arrival of orders for the American spring trade on a better scale than had been hoped for.

Two large cotton mills near Rouen, one occupied by M. Piel and the other by M. Fleury, had been destroyed by fire with their valuable contents.

A battering ship, completely cased in iron, is in course of construction at Cherbourg.

The Paris flour market was dull, and prices had a drooping tendency. Wheat, on the contrary, was firm, at an advance of 50 cents the hectolitre—Wines and spirits in the various markets were generally quiet and without change in quotations.

Mr. Chandler, the new United States Minister, arrived in Naples on the 6th, and was sent at once to Nisidi in Quarantine. The nuisance of this unnecessary impediment to commercial and to social intercourse is much felt and complained of.

Metrical Preaching.—The last thing we should have fancied is to have heard within the pulpit, echoes of the form and fashion of Longfellow's "Hiawatha." In the fore part of the season down at (then not crowded) Ramsgate, an acute dissenting preacher, to attract a numerous gathering, advertised his fixed intention, twice (D. V.) on the next Sunday, sermons twain then to deliver, in majestic blank verse uttered. And he did it. They who listened had a weary, weary season; season very weary had they, list'ning to the man who did it; man obese, obese his wit too; describe we will not venture, how the pump went onward working, at each lifting of the handle, dribbling forth its stinted measure. Very painful 'twas to bear it, very pleasant to the speaker; love was the all-graceful subject; quite unlovely was the treatment. But 'twas with a moral pointed; moral pointed very sharply; sharply pointed to the pocket; and it showed how if our bosoms glowed but with the love he painted, we should prove it by a lib'ral coming down at the collection!—Athenæum.

A Man Shaved with an Adze.—Since beards and razors were invented, says the Abingdon Virginian, we never heard of an innovation or improvement upon the latter until Tuesday last. On the evening of that day, two men in the neighborhood of our depot, getting into a fracas, one of them struck at the other with a footadze, and completely shaved his chin at one stroke, without materially injuring the meat. We learn that the shaved man was the aggressor, and that the other shaved him in self-defense. May the Lord deliver us from such a barber and such a razor.

It is reported that Louis Mallard, the executor of King Joseph, has brought with him to America the original manuscript of O'Meara's Memoirs of Napoleon Bonaparte, which has never been published entire, owing to a prohibition of government. It will probably be re-issued in full.

PRIVATE MEDICAL DISPENSARY.
DR. GATES has the pleasure of announcing to the public that he has taken the office formerly occupied by Dr. King, and permanently located in Louisville, Ky., where he would call the attention of those afflicted with diseases of a private or confidential nature to the new method of treatment as practiced in the English and French Hospitals. Having for several years made this class of diseases a SPECIALITY, with the knowledge he has of them, warrants him in saying that there is no form of symptoms which they assume that he will not effect a quick and permanent cure. Dr. G.'s mode of treating these diseases is entirely new, having never been adopted by any other physician in this country.

YOUNG MEN.—Who, by indulging in solitary habits, have contracted that mind harrowing and body destroying disease, seminal weakness, which leads to the most alarming and fatal consequences, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure.

TO THE LADIES.—Dr. G. is agent for M. LaCroux' French Preventive Powders, by which those who, from any cause, deem it necessary to avoid conception, can do so without incurring danger to health or constitution. Price $2. Also agent for Madame Caprani's Female Monthly Pills, a safe and effectual remedy for irregularities, obstruction, &c. Price $1.—CAUTION.—Ladies in a certain situation should not use them. For particulars, see directions accompanying each box ... The Pills and Powders sent by mail to any part of the country.

Persons at a distance may be cured at home by addressing a letter, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicine forwarded free from damage or curiosity to any part of the country with full and plain directions for use.

Letters asking advice, also orders for pills or powders must contain a postage stamp.

Consultations may be held from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. at his office, north-east corner of Third and Market streets. Private entrance on Third street.

Secrecy inviolable. Don't forget the name and number. All letters should be addressed

Charles' London Cordial Gin,
THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY LONDON GIN IMPORTED.—This Gin, distilled in London from sound Barley, under the sanction of the British Excise Laws, is delicately flavored with a tincture of the Italian Juniper Berry and some of the most valuable Restoratives of the Vegetable Kingdom rendering it in the opinion of the most eminent medical men the purest and safest stimulant or diuretic drink in use.

It is a delicious tonic, of a soft and delicate flavor differing entirely from any other Gin, and is free of that harsh acrid taste which renders the article known as Holland Gin or Schnapps so objectionable.

It is recommended by Physicians generally in cases of DYSPEPSIA, GOUT, RHEUMATISM, DROPSY, GRAVEL, COLIC, CHOLERA, FEVER and AGUE, STRICTURE, DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS, the KIDNEYS, and the BOWELS, NERVOUS DEBILITY, &c.

It is peculiarly adapted to settlers in the Southern and Western States as well as for travelers exposed to change of water and air.

THE EDITOR OF THE DEMOCRAT REPUDIATES THE DRED SCOTT DECISION.—This is a point of some consequence, and we wish our neighbor to be understood. We said in the Journal of Tuesday:

> This is our position. If slavery has a constitutional existence in the Territories, Congress is bound to protect it, if the Territorial Legislature don't. If not, the right is a mockery and the Constitution a cheat. Any other conclusion is logically impossible. Douglas, however, in his blind defence of logic, and of morality as well, contends that neither Congress nor the Territorial Legislature is under obligations to protect the constitutional rights of slaveholders in a Territory. Will our neighbor [illegible] exactly what he contends for in the premises? Does he believe or not, as regards slave property in the Territories, that the Constitution confers on Congress "the power coupled with the duty of guarding and protecting the owner in his rights?" If he believes that it does, he condemns the position of Douglas. If he believes that it doesn't, he repudiates the Dred Scott decision. Speak out, neighbor. Which horn of the dilemma do you choose?

And here is his choice, as expressed in the Democrat of Wednesday:

> The editor of the Journal avows his purpose to insist on [illegible] protecting property in slaves in the Territories. That body must, then, pass a code of laws for the purpose, and provide Federal officers to execute them. We have not room to expose the [illegible], but it is quite consistent with a Federalist to maintain such a position. The right to property in slaves is on the same footing with all other rights, and if Congress has power to legislate for slave property in the Territories, that body has a right to legislate for Territories in all cases whatsoever. When the Democracy take that position, they must abandon all they have held for the last twenty years. They have been struggling to avoid all Federal legislation on the subject; now to invoke it, would be most complete self-stultification.

That is, our neighbor repudiates the Dred Scott decision. Surely we need not say again what the Dred Scott decision is. We have in the last few weeks quoted the language of the Court almost a score of times. But, for the sake of distinctness, we shall quote it once more. "And, if the Constitution recognizes the right of property of the master in the slave," the Court says, "and makes no distinction between that description of property and other property owned by a citizen, no tribunal, acting under the authority of the United States, whether it be LEGISLATIVE, executive, or judicial, has a right to draw such distinction, or DENY to it the benefit of the provisions and guarantees which have been provided for the protection of private property against the encroachments of the Government." Referring to Congress, it adds: "The only power conferred is THE POWER COUPLED WITH THE DUTY OF GUARDING AND PROTECTING THE OWNER IN HIS RIGHTS." The Court expressly asserts, not only that no tribunal, acting under the authority of the United States, whether it be legislative, executive, or judicial, has a right to deny protection to slave property in the Territories, but, that Congress has the power to protect such property, and is bound to exercise it. This is the Dred Scott decision. It is the doctrine of the Supreme Court of the Union. Our neighbor of the Democrat repudiates it.

Our neighbor maintains, with Douglas, that the slaveholders have a bare abstract right under the Constitution to carry their slave property into the Territories, but not a shadow of constitutional claim to protection after they get it there. He is willing to allow that the Constitution gives the naked right, but denies that it gives any title to the means of enforcing it. He thinks it would be a dreadful usurpation if Congress should protect the rights which he admits the Constitution recognizes. He says "it is quite consistent with a Federalist to maintain such a position," but intimates that it is a horrid thing for a Democrat. The Dred Scott decision is in our neighbor's estimation very wretched Democracy. He will have none of it. His reason is an extraordinary one. "The right to property in slaves," he says, "is on the same footing with all other rights, and, if Congress has power to legislate for slave property in the Territories, that body has a right to legislate for Territories in all cases whatsoever." Terrible! As if anybody, except our neighbor himself, had ever doubted the right of Congress to legislate for Territories in all cases whatsoever, subject only to the Constitution. Congress is, indeed, the only body on which the Constitution confers the power to legislate for the Territories. The Territorial Legislatures are the mere agents, creatures, instruments of Congress, in the exercise of this constitutional power. The power of governing the Territories is vested exclusively in Congress. The Territorial Legislatures are not known to the Constitution. This is the doctrine of all our statesmen, from Jefferson down to Buchanan. It is, moreover, the doctrine of the Dred Scott decision. "They do decide," says the Court, referring to a previous decision on this very point, "that the power in Congress is unquestionable, and in this we entirely concur, and nothing will be found in this opinion to the contrary." And this is the doctrine which our neighbor treats as an acknowledged absurdity, thinking that he has sufficiently answered our argument when he traces it to so wild an issue. Where is the man's wits?

Our neighbor appears to have very ill-defined views respecting the relations of the Federal Government to the Territories. He altogether misconceives the ground of the current policy of the Government. Popular sovereignty, as applied to the Territories, is not a matter of principle, but simply of policy, and may and ought to be disregarded whenever the peculiar circumstances of a Territory render it inexpedient. Our neighbor talks as if self-government were a constitutional right of the people of the Territories. Nothing could be more preposterous. It is a sheer question of expediency. "In some cases," says the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott case, "a Government, consisting of persons appointed by the Federal Government, would best subserve the interests of the Territory, when the inhabitants were few and scattered and new to one another. In other instances, it would be more advisable to commit the powers of self-government to the people who had settled in the Territory, as being the most competent to determine what was best for their own interests. But some form of civil authority would be absolutely necessary to organize and preserve civilized society, and prepare it to become a State; and what is the best form must always depend on the condition of the Territory at the time, and the choice of the mode must depend upon the exercise of a discretionary power by Congress, acting within the scope of its constitutional authority, and not infringing upon the rights of person or rights of property of the citizen who might go there to reside, or for any other lawful purpose." The Territorial Governments constitute only the machinery through which Congress exercises its constitutional authority over the Territories. It is the duty of Congress under the constitution to govern the Territories, but the manner of governing them is left wholly to Congress itself. The end is imperative; but the means are discretionary. Self-government may do in some cases, perhaps in most cases; in others it will not. Congress is the sole judge of its fitness in all cases. Such is the theory of the founders of the government, and the practice of their successors. Our neighbor of the Democrat is not well posted in constitutional politics. He is not well posted in any sort of politics. He doesn't comprehend the force and significance of the most prominent measures of his own party. He is especially ignorant of the subject he at present undertakes to discuss. He assured us a few days ago that he would take his "first leisure to examine this matter further." We suppose we have here the fruit of his investigation. The result is not eminently satisfactory. We advise him to take his second leisure to examine the matter further still.

We shall have something more to say hereafter of our neighbor's position. We desire at present simply to call attention to the position itself—a position identical with the abominable heresy of Douglas, in direct and deadly conflict with the Dred Scott decision, and utterly abhorrent to every dictate of reason and every impulse of honor—a position so monstrous that even the Black Republicans themselves reject it with loathing and contempt. Our neighbor, so far as we know, is the only Southern man who has declared in its favor, and he will unquestionably be left in his solitary shame.

> The editor of the Journal sees quite a distinction between Douglas, and Orr, and Stephens; because Douglas said a Territory could "lawfully" exclude slavery. A Territory may do lawfully anything for which there is no remedy.
> Democrat.

This is a novel definition. Let us test it. There is no remedy when the wrong-doer is mightier than the law, therefore, on our neighbor's assumption, all crimes are lawful that successfully defy the law. Our neighbor's ideas of law and morals appear to be slightly confused. It is unlawful to do whatever the law forbids. According to the Supreme Court, the Constitution, the fundamental law of the land, forbids the denial of protection to slave property in the Territories; consequently it is unlawful to deny protection to such property. What has our neighbor to say to that?

Our neighbor's argument is rotten to the core. It is a non sequitur, granting his own ridiculous assumption. There is a remedy for the Territorial action in question, in appeal to Congress, the responsible governing power of the Territories; hence, our neighbor himself being judge, a Territory cannot lawfully take such action. If Congress turns a deaf ear to the appeal, that body becomes itself the true delinquent; and though, in that event, there may be no remedy, the delinquency is none the less unlawful, because none the less in defiance of the Constitution.

We commend these brief paragraphs to our neighbor's dispassionate consideration.

☞ Billy Mulligan, the notorious prize fighter, was recently arraigned in New York for a most aggravated assault upon a citizen. Billy's services at the polls on election days are very important to the Democracy, and so the Judge felt a good deal embarrassed in passing sentence upon him. His Honor concluded upon the whole to let him off with a trifling fine, which was paid on the spot, but, in order to vindicate fully the sacred cause of justice, he sent the next prisoner, charged with a similar though less aggravated offence, to the penitentiary.

FORNEY AND BUCHANAN.—The Philadelphia Press of yesterday was to contain Col. Forney's promised exposition, proving the truth of the remarkable statement made by him in his recent speech. No doubt the exposition is pretty long, but, if it fulfills the promise made in its behalf by the author, we shall certainly publish it, for it cannot fail to involve the fate of Mr. Buchanan and his administration.

If Col. Forney is the sort of man that the organs of the administration represent him, it is exceedingly unfortunate for them that they did not earlier discover the fact. Then they would have been spared the deep humiliation and bitter mortification of finding themselves constrained to brand as infamous a man previously honored above all others by the administration and themselves.

Less than two years ago the President of the United States addressed this letter to a prominent member of the Pennsylvania Legislature, and not even Col. Forney's enemies can or do charge that he has since done anything personally dishonorable.

> WHEATLAND, Jan 7, 1857.
> MY DEAR SIR: Although I have always refrained from interfering in the choice of Senators by the Legislature, yet the high confidential relation which a Pennsylvania President ought to sustain towards a Pennsylvania Senator at the present moment induces me to say a few words to you as a valued friend on the pending Senatorial election. I learn that doubts have been expressed as to my preference among the candidates, and though my opinion may be entitled to little weight, I do not desire to be placed in an equivocal position on this or any other subject. When asked, I have always said I preferred Col. Forney, and I should esteem it a friendly act towards me on the part of any person [illegible]. At the same time I desire to express my warm personal and political regard for Messrs. [illegible], Foster, Buckalew, and Wright. From the course pursued by Mr. [illegible] for some years past, confidential relations between him and myself have ceased.
> I have thus presented to you my views, so that, if you should deem it necessary, you may [illegible] to such persons as you may consider the most [illegible].
> From your friend, very respectfully,
> JAMES BUCHANAN.
> HENRY S. MOTT, Esq.

If Col. Forney ever committed a dishonorable act, it was before the date of that letter and within the full knowledge of the author of that letter. But Col. F.'s personal character is nothing to us, however much it may be to Mr. Buchanan and his administration. We expect a good deal more proof than assertion in the forthcoming document.

☞ Our old friend McCardle, of the Vicksburg True Southron, was always a very fair man when he worked with us against the Democratic party, but he seems, on going into that party, to have left his fairness behind him as something he could have no possible occasion for in his new and strange position. In his paper of the 22d ult., he copies a portion of an article of ours upon the subject of a union, partial or otherwise, between the Americans and the Republicans in several of the States, but he carefully avoids copying any paragraph to show that we discountenanced in the strongest manner any union except upon strictly conservative and national grounds, and that the union had taken place upon such grounds wherever we spoke of it as having taken place at all.

The Southern man, who does not wish the Republicans to give up their sectional platform and to take their position upon national ground, must be either a traitor, a fool, or—a Locofoco politician. McCardle ought, if only for the sake of old memories, to avoid all attempts to create unjust prejudices against us. We did not look for such attempts in such a quarter, but, when an editor turns fire-eater, there's no guessing what naughty thing he will not say or do.

☞ The National Intelligencer gives a great deal of credit to the President of the United States for sending the captured Africans from Charleston back to Africa, and a great deal of credit to the people of South Carolina for letting it be done. The venerable editor is evidently as much astonished as he is gratified at the unexpected virtue of the President and the South Carolinians in not having the Africans reduced to slavery upon South Carolina soil after the vessels of the United States, in obedience to the laws against the slave trade, have succeeded in wresting them from the hands of slavers upon the high seas. If our whole navy were employed to catch upon the ocean and in the Gulf all the ships with slave cargoes destined for Cuba and take the cargoes to South Carolina to be enslaved there, who knows but that South Carolina, in consideration of the benefits received, might consent to remain in the Union indefinitely?

☞ The editor of the Washington States thinks that the election of Lincoln over Douglas in Illinois would inevitably cause the disruption of the Union. Then why does not that editor have the manliness to charge home upon the President of the United States, who is using daily all the vast power of his high station to secure Douglas's defeat? Shouldn't an editor be ashamed to strike always at mere tools without daring to lisp a word against the functionaries that wield them?

☞ Gov. Jones, of Tennessee, has returned from his speech-making tour in Illinois. He made two speeches for Douglas and gave out. He couldn't possibly make the people there comprehend how he could be a Douglas man and a Buchanan man at the same time. Undoubtedly he can be more sorts of a man than any other human specimen they ever saw.

☞ Senator Douglas says in one of his speeches that the world is looking upon the contest in Illinois. No doubt he is under the impression that the comet has come from a distant part of the universe just to be a spectator of the fight between him and Lincoln. Maybe when it goes he will feel like taking passage on it.

☞ The Danville Transcript says that two men in that neighborhood recently swapped wives. We are rather afraid that such occurrences take place sometimes without getting into the newspapers.

☞ A man in Milwaukie killed his wife, and cut his own throat five minutes afterwards. Five before would have been much better.

RAILROAD MEETING.—We have been furnished with a copy of the following resolution:

On Monday last, it being County Court day, a public meeting was held in the court-house, in the town of Russellville, and Wm. T. Evans, Esq., having been called to the chair, and T. N. Lyne chosen Secretary, after a short speech by R. C. Bowling, Esq., explaining the object of the meeting, and urging the importance of the proposed railroad from Bowlinggreen to the Tennessee line, the following resolution was offered and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That Nimrod Long, Robt. Browder, R. H. Caldwell, Dr. David King and Dr. G. H. Hutchings be, and they are hereby appointed delegates to visit the city of Louisville and confer with the President and Directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company and urge upon the citizens of Louisville the claims and advantages which would result to them in common with the citizens of the section of country through which it would pass, from the construction of the Louisville and Memphis branch railroad. Said committee are hereby empowered to do all other things which, in their judgment, will lead to the speedy construction of said branch railroad.
WM. T. EVANS, Chairman.
T. N. LYNE, Secretary.
Sept. 27, 1858.

We are informed the gentlemen appointed are now in the city, and desire a meeting of the citizens of Louisville to-night (Friday) at the City Court room, at 7½ o'clock. It is the purpose of those gentlemen to communicate facts, which may be important in determining the vote on the Memphis branch road. We hope our citizens will show the courtesy due to those gentlemen and attend this evening.

EXCITEMENT ABOUT CIRCUMCISION IN NEWARK, N. J.—The Newark Courier of Friday has the following communication respecting the excitement recently aroused in that village by an extraordinary proceeding on the part of some of the citizens:

Novel Law Suit:—It may not perhaps be generally known that there exists in this and some other States a religious sect different in a great extent from those whom we denominate Jews, yet calling themselves "Israelites." This class of religionists believe in and practice the rite of circumcision. A very limited number of heads of families in this town have recently become converts to the peculiar doctrines of this sect.

On the fact becoming known that two of them (honest and worthy men) had caused this rite to be performed upon their children—one a boy of eight or nine years, and the other of the age of six—much excitement arose among a certain portion of our citizens, who regarded it as an unheard-of and unwarranted outrage. The execution of lynch law was even proposed, and perhaps only prevented by the advice of a number of the legal profession, that what these men had done was clearly unlawful, but that the proper course was to proceed against them for assault and battery. A warrant was accordingly issued, one of the defendants arrested, and bail given for his appearance at the next sitting of the Grand Jury. Now, I am no lawyer, but in view of the circumstances of the case, of Bible history, both Old and New Testaments, of the daily, uninterrupted practice of the Jews in our midst, and of the guaranties of religious liberty in our constitutions and laws I cannot conceive a doubt of how this matter must be decided.

EARTHQUAKE IN JEFFERSON CO., N. Y.—The Watertown Journal says the people in that vicinity were considerably astonished on Friday morning last by a sudden and heavy report, accompanied by a jarring of the earth that made the buildings fairly tremble.

The phenomenon is described by those whose attention was called to it, in generally the same way: as producing a jarring of walls, shaking of windows, and rattling among stove pipes, crockery, and tinware; and the accompanying noise sounded like thunder in the earth. Most people were in their houses at the time of the shock, as it happened about six o'clock, and the circumstance caused a general rush for out doors, to inquire into the mystery. One man happened at the time to be standing on the bank of Black river, and the concussion made such an effect in the water that it appeared to him like a mass of quivering jelly. Atmosphere heavy and damp, sky cloudy, air chilly. Unquestionably the phenomenon was an earthquake, although doubtless of the "smaller species." Old residents describe to us a similar occurrence in these latitudes some eighteen or twenty years ago.

Sir E. Lytton has made arrangements for opening a bank at Vancouver's Island, and ultimately in British Columbia. He has also suggested a plan for uniting a fortnightly postal communication to New Zealand and South Australia, via Panama, with a postal service by the same route to Vancouver. Mr. Brew, of the Irish constabulary, who served with great distinction in the Crimea, has been appointed to organize a constabulary police in British Columbia. Two chaplains are sent to the colony by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel.

A Washington letter says: "The Postmaster General will wage war to the death upon the country papers which have a habit of sending off advertising supplements in their weekly editions. All such packages hereafter are to be subject to newspaper postage. There is to be no more sending out circulars by newspaper proprietors in that way—if the Department can detect the infringement upon the decision, which is very doubtful."

Gold from Pike's Peak.—We saw yesterday a lump of gold weighing over three ounces, resembling in shape and quality the California gold as it comes from the diggings which was sent to Mr. Cook, of the firm of Cook & Matthews, of this city, by his brother, from Pike's Peak, the new El Dorado. The curious may see the specimen at the jewelry store of C. D. Sullivan, opposite the Planter's House.—St. Louis Republican.

Starvation in London.—During the week ending Sept. 4th, according to the official report, one woman, the wife of a weaver, died from exhaustion from want of food.

Burning of the Austria.

Full Particulars.

Statement of Chartres Drew.—I took passage at Southampton on the 4th, in the steamship Austria, Captain Heydtmann, which left Hamburg on the 2d. We sailed at 5 P. M.

From the time the ship was laid on her course we experienced strong westerly winds. On the 12th the weather was more favorable, and on the 13th a speed of eleven knots had been attained, and all were in high hopes of reaching New York by the 18th. At a little after 2 o'clock P. M., I was on the quarter-deck. I saw a dense volume of smoke burst from the after entrance of the steerage. Some women ran aft, exclaiming, "The ship is on fire, what will become of us?" The ship was instantly put at a half speed, at which she continued until the magazine exploded, from which I infer the engineers were instantly suffocated. I only walked from where I was on the quarter-deck to the waist of the ship, when I saw the flame breaking through the lights amidships. As the ship was head to the wind, the fire traveled with fearful rapidity.

I then went to the man at the wheel, and told him to put the vessel with her side to the wind. He hesitated—probably did not understand me, as he was a native of Hamburg. I then got a German gentleman to speak to him. At this time I saw some persons letting down the boat on the port side of the quarter deck. What became of the boat I don't know, but think she was crushed under the screw. I then went to let a boat over from the starboard side of the quarter-deck, but the moment we laid our hands on the ropes, there were so many people who crowded into it that we could not lift it off the blocks. We therefore left it for a few minutes, until the people got out, when we returned, and I reached it over the side of the ship, when, the people all rushing in to it again, it descended with great violence into the water, and was instantly swamped, all the people being washed out except three, who held on to the sides. We then let down a rope and pulled up one person, who proved to be the steward. Another, in the act of being hauled up, was strangled by the rope.

The fire now came on too fiercely to attempt to get up any more from the swamped boat. All the first cabin passengers were on the poop, with the exception of a few gentlemen, who must have been smothered in the smoking room. Many of the second cabin passengers were also on the poop, but a number of them got shut into their cabin by the fire. Some of them were pulled up through the ventilator, but the greater number could not be extricated. The last woman who was drawn up said there were six already suffocated. We now perceived that the ship had got her head to the wind again, so that the fire drove over the quarter deck.

From the confusion of the crowd, I could not get to the wheel house to ascertain the reason, but I was informed that the helmsman had deserted his post, and that the vessel, being left to herself, headed to the wind of her own accord. At this time the scene on the quarter deck was indescribable and truly heart-rending. Passengers were rushing frantically to and fro—husbands seeking their wives, wives in search of their husbands, relatives looking after relatives, mothers lamenting the loss of their children, some wholly paralyzed by fear, others madly crying to be saved; but a few perfectly calm and collected. The flames pressed so closely upon them that many jumped into the sea. Relatives clasped in each other's arms leaped over and met a watery grave, two girls, supposed to be sisters, jumped over and sank kissing each other. A missionary and wife leaped into the sea together, and the stewardess and assistant steward arm in arm followed.

The Hungarian gentleman with seven fine children, four of them girls, made his wife jump in, then blessed his six eldest children, made them jump in one after the other, and followed them with an infant in his own arms. I, about this time, was standing outside the bulwarks holding on by the davits, leaning out to avoid the flames, which were leaping towards me. I saw a swamped boat under me, spinning by a rope still attached to the ship. As the oars were tied in her, I thought, if I could get to her, I would be enabled to save myself and some others. I let myself down by a rope, passing over a man who was clinging to it, but who refused to come with me. I took out a penknife to cut the tackle; the large blade broke, and I then severed it with the small blade. The ship passed ahead.

As the screw approached I found the boat drawn towards it. I tried to keep the boat off, but the screw caught and capsized her over me. I dived away from the ship and came to the surface near a boat which was keel upwards. I got on her, and by pressing on one side with the assistance of a wave she righted, but was still swamped. The oars had been knocked out by the screw. The only thing I could find in her to paddle with was some laths nailed together as a sheathing for the sides. When I looked around, the ship was a quarter of a mile away from me. I could see ladies and gentlemen jumping off the poop into the water in twos and threes, some of the ladies in flames. Several hesitated to leap from the burning ship until the last moment, as the height was twenty two feet, and were only at length compelled to throw themselves off to avoid a more painful death. In half an hour not a soul was to be seen on the poop.

I pulled after the ship and picked up a German, who was swimming strongly; I got him beside me on the boat, and we paddled after the ship with the laths. I now saw a vessel under sail approaching; she reached the steamer at about 5 P. M. We continued paddling toward them, and about 7½ o'clock, after being five hours in the water, got within hail of the sailing vessel, which put off a boat and took us on board. She proved to be the French bark Maurice, Captain Ernest Renaud of Nantes, bound from Newfoundland for the Isle of Bourbon, with fish. She had, up to that time, rescued forty passengers of the burning steamer, chiefly taken off the bowsprit, though a few were picked up floating around. At about 8 o'clock, one of the metallic boats came up, with about twenty-three persons, including the first and third officers; afterwards, three or four men were picked up, floating on a piece of the broken boat.

The second officer was taken up, having been swimming, with nothing to float him, for six hours. The second and third officers were severely burned; one male passenger was burned frightfully, and some other male passengers slightly. There were but six women saved, three of whom were burned, one in a shocking manner. Captain Renaud acted with the utmost kindness. He gave clothes as far as he could furnish them to the suffering passengers, and acted as nurse, doctor, and surgeon to the burned people, dressing the wounds of the females with a delicacy and tenderness that evinced a benevolent and amiable disposition. I did not see an officer of the ship during the fire, and am certain there was not one of them or the crew on the poop, except a man at the wheel for a short time. I understood that when the Captain heard of the fire, he rushed on deck without a cap, and when he saw the flames exclaimed, "We are all lost!"

He tried to get out a boat, which, when let down, was swamped, and he, whether accidentally or not, I do not know, fell into the sea, and was soon left far behind. The fourth officer was in the boat. He cut her loose from the davits; she was carried under the screw and smashed, and several in her drowned. Three or four then escaped on a fragment and were picked up by the Maurice as before stated. About the same time one metallic life-boat was let down from the port bow and swamped, but got cleared away with about thirty three persons in her, including the first and third officers and several women.

The men in this boat capsized her two or three times in trying to clear her of water. Ten persons were thus drowned, including some women. They afterward bailed her out with life preservers cut in two, and pulled to the Maurice, having picked up two or three passengers before reaching the bark. Altogether there were sixty-seven souls taken into the Maurice during the night.

A Norwegian bark came up with the steamer the next morning, and a boat was observed going around the burning ship. They may have picked up a few persons, but only a very few. The Maurice had no communication with the Norwegian. At about 7 o'clock the Maurice sailed for Fayal to deposit the rescued passengers. At about 2 o'clock the same afternoon she fell in with the bark Lotus, Captain Trefry, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, from Liverpool for Halifax. As I was anxious to get to British territory, Capt. Trefry kindly gave me passage. He was also anxious to take all the American citizens, but there was such a rush of foreigners into the boats that only one load of eleven could be got off, and even several of these were foreigners.

The fire is known to have arisen from very culpable negligence of some of the crew. The captain and surgeon considered it expedient to fumigate the steerage with burning tar. The operation was to be performed by the boatswain, under the superintendence of the fourth officer. The boatswain heated the end of a chain to dip in tar to produce smoke. The end became too hot to hold, and he let it drop upon the deck, to which it set fire. The tar upset, and immediately all about was in flames. A feeble attempt was made to extinguish it, but without effect. There was nothing at hand to meet such an emergency.

The rescued passengers saved nothing but the clothes on their backs, and even the greater part of these were torn off and otherwise lost.

Six hundred souls were supposed to be on board, including many women and children.

MR. GLAUBENSKLEE'S STATEMENT.

At about 2½ o'clock P. M., Sept. 13, being in my state-room, I heard the cry of "Fire." Hastening on deck, I saw the flames breaking through the middle deck. The Captain was trying to get the people out of the second boat on the port side, to save it. I hastened to the fore deck to keep the people from the boat. After a few minutes I turned around to go to the quarter deck, but could not get through the fire. I remained on the forecastle, the ship still the time going onward against the wind. With the assistance of a sailor, I cut down the [illegible] to throw into the water, to use in checking the progress of the fire, but the people on deck did not understand our intention, and merely threw them into the water. I tried to discover something with which to save the passengers, but nothing was to be found. The spars had been thrown overboard and the buckets being near the pipe, were all on fire. In about half an hour the foremast fell, and shortly after the mainmast, and at about the same time the engine appeared to stop. The ship, which thus far had been heading west, gradually turned to the north, and finally to the northeast. Soon after the boiler seemed to collapse, and ten minutes after the magazine exploded. By the turning of the ship, the flames and smoke drove to the forecastle. The suffering then became intense. Our only hope now being in two vessels in the distance, one of which, which afterwards proved to be the Maurice, approached us slowly, the other, further off, steering west, took no notice of us, although she was signaled to do so by the Captain of the Maurice.

Having taken my stand on the chains on the larboard side, I gradually advanced forward to make room for others. At about 5 o'clock the Maurice sent off a boat, and as soon as it came near I jumped into the water and reached it. Seven others were taken in, and the boat returned to the bark. The boats belonging to the bark continued to ply to and from the steamer, picking up all they could until the darkness made it impossible to find more of the sufferers. Soon after sunset the first officer and about a dozen others came to the bark, having saved themselves by a life boat. Later some Swedish sailors came in part of a boat, and Mr. Brew and a German in part of another boat.

Mr. Glaubensklee's account of the origin of the fire coincides with that of Mr. Brew in every particular.

Smith, having 25 31-100 acres, situated on the Shelbyville branch turnpike road, 2½ miles from the court-house. This is one of the handsomest and best improved places in Jefferson county. The house is a large double brick, having all the modern improvements, water, &c., for comfort and convenience. The grounds are handsomely laid out with paved walks, and contain an abundance of shrubbery and fruit.
Terms—One, two, three and four years, with interest payable annually, and good personal security on the two first notes, and lien retained on the property to secure the whole purchase money.
Also, at the same time and place, and on the same terms, ten acres of land adjoining the above, in lots to suit purchasers.
Also, on Wednesday, October 6th, 1858, at 3 o'clock P. M., on the premises, on a credit of one, two, three, and four equal annual payments, with interest payable annually and good personal security on the first payment, and a lien retained to secure the whole purchase money, a lot of ground known as Rowland Wharf, having a front of 47 5-12 feet on Fulton street, running back 528 feet to the river, and fronting 47 5-12 feet on the river.
Also at the same time, on the premises, on the following terms: One-third cash, balance in one, two, and three years, with interest, and lien retained as above, 25 feet of Ground on the south side of Fulton street, between Jackson and Hancock, running back 150 feet to an alley.
Also, at the same time, and on the same terms as above, on the premises, 50 by 103 feet of Ground on the west side of Hancock street, with two Frame Dwellings thereon.
A complete plat of the above property can be seen at my office, and the property shown to any one desiring to examine it before the day of sale.

FOR MAYOR,

THOMAS H. CRAWFORD.

ELECTION, OCTOBER 4.

☞See first page for city advertisements.

☞Owing to the crowded state of our columns this week, we have been compelled to place on our first page advertisements that are entitled to insertions on our inner pages. We hope our friends will bear with us in this our necessity.

CUTTING FEED FOR HORSES AND CATTLE.—A few days since we noticed Cumming's patent Straw and Cornstalk Cutter, manufactured in this city by our enterprising fellow-townsmen, Messrs. Peter & Buchanan, and now on exhibition at the Mechanics' and also at the Kentucky State Fair. We witnessed its operation on the Fair Grounds yesterday, both by hand and steam power, before the Awarding Committee, who, after a most rigid examination of this and numerous others of celebrity, awarded the first premium to Cumming's patent, both as a straw and hay cutter, and as a cornstalk and fodder cutter. This machine, running by steam power, cut some ten bushels of oats per minute, and nearly that amount of corn stalks, cutting large bundles of stalks with the corn on, just as they came from the field, with perfect ease, leaving them in fine condition for food. We learn that, in consequence of the great success and popularity of the Cumming's machine, various parties have undertaken to build imitation machines. The genuine are manufactured by Peter & Buchanan, and for sale only by them and their agents in the Western and Southern States.

THE CASE OF JAILOR DECIDED.—Judge Monroe gave a written opinion this morning in the case of Batman vs. Thomas, deciding in favor of Thomas, the present incumbent for the office of jailor.
Evening Bulletin of yesterday.

We must make a correction of the foregoing paragraph. It is true that the Board decided in favor of Thomas in that motion, but they did not decide upon the merits of the case. They decided only that Batman had failed to give notice in time. The Revised Statutes provide that a candidate, intending to contest an election, must give notice of such intention within ten days after the final action of the Board which counts the vote. The final action of the Board was on the 6th of August, and the notice by Batman was on the 16th. The notice was given on the eleventh day after the action of the Board of Examiners, and the Board decided that it was not given within ten days. This is all they decided.

☞A storm prevailed last night East of Cincinnati, which interrupted telegraphic communication.

MASONIC TEMPLE FAIR.—If delightful music can give the passing moment a charm—if gay and smiling faces can dispel a gloom, and a joyous laugh make us forget the cares of life, let us go to the Masonic Temple and mingle in the brilliant scene that is nightly enacted there. Besides the smile, the glowing cheek, and the beaming eye, a costly collection of rare and valuable articles are temptingly displayed, and by such charming belles that it is dangerous to the purse to get within the circle of their wand. In a separate room the dance reigns supreme, and many of the belles and beaux enjoy the inspiring music, and of course the company of each other. Let all go who wish to enjoy a delightful evening.

NEW PARTNERSHIP.—It will be seen that our old friend Thos. Browne has associated Mr. W. W. Gray, of Illinois, with himself in the banking and brokering business. We have known Mr. Browne intimately from his early boyhood, and most cordially and heartily can we endorse him to the world. We have no doubt that his new partner is worthy of the partnership.

☞If you wish a fine picture of yourself or friend, go to Webster's; if you are not particular, go anywhere.

☞Owners of land in Peters' Colony, Texas, are referred to the advertisement of C. J. Meng, Esq., in another column.

OAKLAND COURSE.—Capt. Travis has put this track in first-rate order; widened it eight feet; repaired the stands, and made every preparation for a series of fine sport next week. There are many admirable stables to be present, and a large number of the finest horses, now at the Fair, will remain here to contest for the purses. There has not been a good trotting meeting here for many years, and all lovers of the sport will anticipate great enjoyment at the prospect of a revival of the ancient glories of the Oakland Course.

☞See advertisement of lost walking cane, (gold head).

☞The General Council met last night, but there being no quorum in the Board of Aldermen adjourned at an early hour till this evening. Some unimportant business was done in the Common Council.

MERCHANT TAILORS.—Gentlemen who desire to procure an elegant and fashionable suit of clothing should examine the style of goods of Messrs. H. & J. Deppen, merchant tailors, on Main street, below Fifth. They have a large and very select stock of all descriptions of cloths, cassimeres, and vestings, and their assortment of the latter is especially beautiful. In fit and neatness the garments made by them are not excelled by any other establishment.

While Messrs. Deppen make it their principal business to manufacture to order, they also keep a variety of ready-made clothing of their own manufacture and gentlemen's furnishing goods.

The Deppens have built up for themselves an extensive business, and it is constantly increasing.

☞We are informed that the contracts entered into a few weeks ago for the delivery of hogs on the Upper Mississippi are misquoted, and we therefore quote them again. They were 10,000 head at 4½ cents net, and 3,000 head at another point at 3½ to 4½ net—the difference in price depending on the difference in weight.

☞There will be sold at the fair grounds to-day several fine mules and horses; one of the former is two years old, 17 hands high, and weighs 1400 lbs.

☞"Rob Roy," the fine stallion advertised for sale by Mr. Gaines, took the two premiums at the United States Fair here last year, and not at New York, as the types made us say yesterday.

☞The Mechanics' Institute is still attracting crowds of strangers, and the display is as pleasing as ever.

THEATRE.—The drama of Gold has been well produced in scenery and mechanical effects. The night scene on the San Joaquin river, which gradually changes to sunrise is admirably managed, and a Kentucky farm is very handsomely arranged. It will be repeated this evening.

☞See advertisement on the preceding page of horses, sulkies, and wagons for sale.

☞The library of the poet Percival is offered for sale. It contains about ten thousand volumes, and will be sold for $20,000, though it is valued at $30,000.

☞There was a larger attendance at the Masonic Fair last night than on any preceding evening during the week. The larger hall was fairly filled, and presented quite a brilliant appearance. Fresh novelties are exhibited nightly, and they are really well worth seeing. Dancing in the small room was kept up until a late hour.

☞The Floral Hall and the machine and implement department at the fair grounds are better filled than we have ever seen them, they claim fully as much attention as the exhibitions in the pavilion.

In walking through Floral Hall, we noticed the blue ribbon attached to the work of Mr. Williams, teacher of bookkeeping and penmanship. His articles deserve to be called works of art. One can hardly realize that they have been executed with a pen. Mr. W. is about opening a school here.

Mr. Prod exhibits a magnificent set of harness. We shall speak of the Floral Hall and machine department more at length to-morrow.

☞The young gentleman who advertises for a situation can give unquestionable recommendation. He is intelligent, acquainted with the general routine of business, and of the strictest morality.

☞We see it stated in the foreign papers that the chess match between Morphy and Harrwitz will terminate with the winning of seven games by one of the parties.

☞We were much annoyed yesterday at the fair, by interruptions and pushing of young men making bets and talking loudly of wagers. They should recollect the courtesy due to ladies' presence and refrain from such misconduct.

☞The pair of mules belonging to R. M. Robinson, Esq., which took the premium at the State Fair and thirteen previous premiums where they have been exhibited, will be sold at public auction to-day at 1 o'clock, in the amphitheater of the fair grounds. This offers a fine chance for our farmers, as it is seldom so noble a pair of mules is seen; they are well broke and work well in harness.

☞A. G. Hodges, publisher of the Kentucky Farmer, may be seen at the Secretary's office at the Fair Grounds, during the continuance of the Fair, where he will be pleased to receive the names of such gentlemen as may desire to subscribe for that paper. s29 j&b3

☞John Smith was arrested yesterday for passing a counterfeit $5 bill on the Northwestern Bank of Virginia. We have already given a description of it. It is a dangerous one, and those who are not judges of money had better refuse $5 notes on this bank altogether, as Cincinnati, Wheeling, Pittsburg, and other cities have been flooded with these counterfeiters.

☞Charles Thompson, son of Judge Thompson, was sentenced at the late Vigo (Ind.) circuit court to one year's imprisonment in the county jail for killing a schoolmate named Rockville.

INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.—The following letters have been received in answer to the invitation extended by the managers of the Kentucky Agricultural Society, to distinguished individuals to attend the State Fair. We also give the letters of invitation:

To his Excellency James Buchanan, President of the United States.

AUGUSTA, August, 1858.

DEAR SIR: At the annual meeting of the Directory of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society for the year 1858, the undersigned were appointed a committee to invite the President of the United States and the members of his cabinet, with the Vice-President and Governors of the several States and Territories of the Union to attend the next annual Kentucky State Fair, which will be held near Louisville on the 28th, 29th, and 30th days of September, and the 1st and 2d days of October, 1858.

In performing the high duty thus devolved upon us we take great pleasure in saying that the Board of Directors of our State Society deem Louisville an appropriate place, and our State Agricultural Fair a fit occasion for the extraordinary assemblage, we desire thus to inaugurate on this middle ground between the North and the South, the East and the West, where many thousands of our fellow-citizens will be gathered in peaceful homage to the value, beauty, and glory of the agricultural element of our national strength and greatness, all unmindful of political regions or sectional differences and peculiarities.

And we beg most respectfully to ask you, sir, even at some sacrifice of personal convenience, to meet the chosen representative heads of this great people, whom we earnestly hope to have with us, come to our State Fair, and let there be such a mingling of feeling and voices and congratulations, such a harmony of thoughts and opinions and purposes as shall be beautifully emblematical of our glorious constitution [illegible] Union and command the wonder and admiration of the world. Let us show to the civilized nations of the earth that, while a simple stand [illegible] has chosen to inscribe on marble block upon the National Monument, in full view of the Federal Capital and the President's House, this sentiment, "under the auspices of Heaven and the precepts of Washington, Kentucky will be the last to give up the Union," is the sentiment of all the States—an utterance of the national feeling that is shared in and heard, and echoed and re-echoed by city and village, from hill-top to valley and valley to hill-top throughout the length and breadth of the vast domain that is dwelt upon by the countless multitude of freemen who compose this Nation.

We venture to urge the attendance of all the distinguished personages whom we have been empowered to invite, for the reason that the absence of one [illegible], in some degree, mar the harmony of the thought that this is an assemblage, on central ground, of the governing representatives of our whole broad Union.

We have the honor to be, very respectfully,
Your fellow-citizens,
L. J. BRADFORD,
JAMES S. JACKSON,
W. A. COOK,
Com. of Invitation.

WASHINGTON, September 1, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I have been honored by your invitation, on behalf of "the Directors of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society," to attend their approaching fair at Louisville.

I regret that the pressure of public business renders its acceptance impossible, because I should esteem it both a pleasure and a privilege to be present on this interesting occasion. Yours, very respectfully,
JAMES BUCHANAN.

L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, and W. A. Cook, Committee of Invitation.

WASHINGTON, August 31st, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I have received your letter inviting me to attend the State Agricultural Fair about to be held in Kentucky, and feel that the considerations you present furnish powerful motives for being present upon that interesting occasion. I wish I could be with you, for the circumstances would revive old recollections as well as strengthen more recent associations. But I shall be deprived of that pleasure, as it will be out of my power to leave this city at that time. I am, gentlemen, with great regard, your obedient servant,
LEWIS CASS.

L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, W. A. Cooke, Committee, &c.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 7th, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I have had the honor to receive your letter of the 10th ultimo, inviting me to attend the next annual fair of the Kentucky State Agricultural Society. It would be a great gratification to me to be able to show my concurrence with the great objects of your society by being present at the time named, but the pressure of my public engagements obliges me to deny myself that pleasure, and I am reluctantly compelled to decline your kind and polite invitation. I am, gentlemen,
Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
JOHN B. FLOYD.

Messrs. L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, and W. A. Cooke, Committee of Invitation, Augusta, Ky.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your invitation to attend the Annual State Fair of the Kentucky Agricultural Society, to be held at Louisville, and beg leave to assure the committee that it would afford me much pleasure to be present on such an interesting occasion did not my official duties at the seat of Government prevent it.

I am, gentlemen, with great respect,
Your obedient servant,
ISAAC TOUCEY.

Messrs. L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, and W. A. Cooke.

WASHINGTON CITY, September 18, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: It would certainly give me much pleasure to meet my fellow-citizens from all parts of our common country at the approaching Fair of the Agricultural Society of the State of Kentucky, and to unite cordially with them in all measures designed to promote the interests of agriculture and domestic industry. Above all, I should rejoice in being able to aid in your design of making this State Fair the occasion of upholding and strengthening our national Union, upon which all our dearest interests so much depend. But pressing engagements connected with my public duties forbid my acceptance of your invitation to be present on that interesting occasion.

I am respectfully your obedient servant,
AARON V. BROWN.

To Messrs. L. J. Bradford, J. S. Jackson, and W. A. Cooke, Committee of Invitation.

BUFFALO, September 23, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I have delayed so long to respond to your invitation to attend your Agricultural Fair to be held near Louisville on the 28th instant and following days, in the faint hope that I might be able to accept it, but I regret to say that I find it impossible. I hope and trust, however, that others to whom your invitation has extended, may be there, and especially the President and his Cabinet, who now wield the destinies of this great nation. If they are, and a majority of the Governors of the several States, my absence will be of no importance, and yet I should be most happy to meet them all, as you suggest, on the middle ground of Kentucky. It has ever been a State so worthy of such an honor. It has ever been true to the Union, and as long as patriotism shall glow in the hearts of her gifted sons she will be so.

Withdrawn, as I am, from all political strife, such a gathering as you describe, where neither party animosity nor sectarian controversy is to be tolerated, would be peculiarly gratifying to my feelings. I should be delighted also to meet those who will be there, and renew old acquaintances, and, more than all, I should be happy once more to tread the soil of Kentucky, and witness the display of your agricultural products and prosperity, but I am unfortunately engaged in making some repairs to my house, and my presence and supervision are quite indispensable. [illegible] of you to accept my thanks for the honor you have done me by the invitation, and be assured that my spirit is with you in all your noble efforts to promote harmony and good feeling among the different members of our glorious Republic. I am your friend and fellow citizen,
MILLARD FILLMORE.

Messrs. L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, and W. A. Cooke, Committee.

LINDENWALD, Sept 17th, 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I can safely say that I have never received an invitation to attend public ceremonies of any description with more satisfaction than I have that with which you have honored me.

The idea of making efforts like those you describe, for the advancement of what you justly call one of the great elements of our national strength and greatness, instrumental also in strengthening the love of union in the bosoms of the masses, cannot fail to warm the heart of every sincere friend to republican government.

Although all are doubtless worthy of the honor, there is still no State in the confederacy from which such a movement could have proceeded with greater propriety than yours. Independent of the advantages of her geographical position, the proceeding bears upon a point in respect to which she has from the beginning been true as steel, and such as she has been she is bound by the character of her people to remain. Her patriotic citizens may rest assured, that, however much and often some of their countrymen may have contended with her upon minor points they have never for a moment ceased to admire the bright spot on her political escutcheon.

Although such are my feelings, you cannot fail to be aware that such a gathering as yours must be, from the stirring character of your invitation, is not, especially at such a distance, the most practical field for a man whose years are upon the stroke of seventy-six, to figure in.

You will therefore, I permit myself to hope, be satisfied with an earnest assurance of my best wishes for the success of your praiseworthy efforts, and of the sincerity with which I am
Your friend and obedient servant,
M. VAN BUREN.

To L. J. Bradford, James S. Jackson, and Wm. A. Cook, Esquires, Committee.

WASHINGTON, August 2[illegible], 1858.

GENTLEMEN: I am in receipt of your favor, politely and kindly inviting me to be present at the next annual Kentucky State Fair, to be held at Louisville in the last days of September and first of October of the current year. I thank you and the society you represent for the invitation, and beg you to be assured that nothing could afford me higher gratification than to meet you and the vast concourse of our fellow-citizens who will no doubt be in attendance on the deeply interesting occasion referred to. The pressure of duties, however, upon me here, is such as to give me very little hope of being able to leave Washington at that time.

Very respectfully your obedient servant.
J. HOLT.

To Messrs. L. J. Bradford and James S. Jackson, Committee of Invitation.

Letters from other distinguished men will be published to-morrow.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS.—Thursday, Sept. 30.—Alex. Traver, perjury, E. W. Schooley, W. S. Happy, and John R. Holmes, alias Smith, suspected felons. Discharged.

W. S. Happy, carrying concealed a bowie-knife. Bail in $200 to answer.

DIED.

On Thursday, Sept. 30, in the 54th year of her age, Mrs. ELLEN CAMPBELL, consort of Jas. Campbell, and mother of R. and P. Bannon, of this city.

Well and faithful hath she performed her mission: In the varied relations of daughter (her mother having died but one month ago), wife, mother, friend, and neighbor, did she beautifully illustrate those virtues that adorn the life of the true christian. Surrounded by her family, reared in the love and fear of the Lord, she sank quietly and sweetly into death.

The friends of the family are invited to attend her funeral from the Cathedral, this evening at 3 o'clock.

LOST,

A FINE GOLD-HEADED WALKING-CANE through the floor of the Amphitheater at the Fair Grounds, on yesterday, (Thursday) Sept. 30. Any person finding it will be paid by leaving it at this office or at the store of G. B. Tabb, corner of Fourth and Market sts. o1 d3

LOST,

ON THE Fair Grounds or in the cars, a large green set (malachite), LADIES' BREAST-PIN. The finder will be liberally rewarded by leaving it at the Southern Bank of Kentucky. o1 d3*

THE STATE FAIR.—Thursday was a day to be remembered by those who were on the Fair Grounds. Such a concourse of humanity has never been assembled in an amphitheatre since the days of olden Rome, when she made holiday and feasted her "savage refinement" in the blood of gladiators. The railroad trains went out crowded to suffocation; the one we stood in carried over two thousand passengers up the grade with a single locomotive. Mr. Hodges, of Frankfort, who was enthusiastic in his admiration of this great steam performance, was trying to make his way to the engine, with a blue ribbon, to hang on the whistle as a token of approval, and all the passengers in our car passed a vote of thanks to the locomotive. When we arrived at the Fair Grounds, a most grateful breeze was blowing, which was a relief to the sweltering visitors; indeed the heat would have been unendurable without it. The day's display was of Horses in Harness and Poultry. The first ring for over four year stallions had thirteen entries for premiums of $25 and $15, as follows:

F. H. Ainsworth, of Michigan City, Ind.; John Funk, Henderson, Ky; H. W. Norton, Jefferson county, Ky; H. W. Norton, Jefferson county, Ky; H. L. Gregory, Louisville; John Burke, Jefferson county, Ky.; John Burke, Jefferson county, Ky.; S. H. Turrill, Cook county, Ill; S. H. Turrill, Cook county, Ill; Dunning & Alexander, Fayette county, Ky; L. L. Dorsey, Jr., Jefferson county, Ky; L. L. Dorsey, Jr., Jefferson county, Ky.; S. T. Turner, Chicago, Ill.

The first premium was awarded to Dunning and Alexander and the second to John Burkes. They were all beautiful animals and attracted great attention. While practicing in the ring the driver of Dorsey's horse fell from his sulky, and the horse, disengaging himself from the harness, dashed affrighted through the door way of the clerk's office, most unceremoniously mounted the table upon which we were writing our notes, jumped over the railing and placed himself on his haunches before the table of Mr. Milton. We are under the impression that he took a pen in his hand to write out his own pedigree, or else to make out the certificate for the premium which he felt sure to win, but the idea does not amount to a conviction, for there was a pretty lively movement of our coat skirts about the time. There were fortunately but three or four gentlemen in the office, all of whom retiated with unusual celerity; one of them met with the mishap that befell Barksdale in the Congressional scrimmage winter before last, having lost his wig. We escaped with nothing broken but our lead pencil and such a nervous shock as we have not had since we passed that "rugged road" which our brothers of the most sublime of orders still remember with a cold shudder. Mr. Mallory expressed deep regret that no premium had been proposed for the general active movements of "Kentucky farmers," for Mr. Hodges displayed such action, stride, and thorough bred pluck, head and tail up, that he deserved all the ribbons of merit ever invented as a reward of superlative desert.

The second ring was for 3 year old stallions, and the entries were as follows:

J. H. Cropper, Cold Water, Mich; C. W. Seaggan, Jefferson county, Ky.; John Burkes, do, do, do; E. L. Dorsey, Jr., do; E. L. Dorsey, do, do, do; E. L. Powell, do.

E. L. Dorsey received the first premium, and John Barber the second.

The next ring was for 2-year old stallions, with the following entries:

John Yaunn, Jefferson county, Ky.; Henry Nichols, Nelson county, Ky.; E. R. Smith, Fayette co., Ky.; H. L. Gregory, Louisville, Ky; L. L. Dorsey, Jr., Jefferson co., Ky.; J. H. Moore, Clarke co., Ky.; J. B. Dorsey, Jefferson co., Ky; Thomas Richards, do.

H. Nichols received the first premium, and J. H. Moore the second.

The ring for one-year old stallions had nine entries, as follows:

James Calloway, Henry co., Ky.; J. J. Jacobs, Jefferson co., Ky.; Andrew Hikes, do; S. Calloway, Henry co., Ky.; J. J. Kilglow, Jefferson co., Ky.; A. L. Tichenor, do; D. L. Gregory, do; E. L. Dorsey, do; Mrs. Mason, do.

A. L. Tichenor took the first premium, and Mrs. Mason the second.

The ring for stallions under one year was composed as follows:

T. H. Posey, Shelby county, Ky.; John Burkes and E. D. Hobbs, Jefferson county, Ky.; J. Calloway, Henry county, Ky. J. Calloway took the first premium, and E. D. Hobbs the second.

The ring for aged mares had ten entries, namely:

J. W. French, Shelby county, Ky.; D. Ellis, and Hollig & Jones, Henry county, Ky.; N. S. Veach, Jefferson county, Ky.; Orville West, Scott county, Ky.; J. L. Lindsay, Henry county, Ky.; L. L. Dorsey, Jr., Jefferson county, Ky.; L. L. Dorsey, Jr, Jefferson county, Ky; P. S. Turner, Chicago, Ills.; J. B. Castleman, Fayette county, Ky. Orville West bore off the first premium and J. W. French the second.

The ring for three year old mares had 7 entries:

Thomas S. Yager, Jefferson county, Ky.; T. S. Barber, Jefferson county, Ky.; J. A. Shrader, Jefferson county, Ky.; L. L. Dorsey, Jefferson county, Ky.; L. L. Dorsey, Jefferson county, Ky.; Elias Dorsey, Jefferson county, Ky.; W. R. Link, Franklin county, Ky. J. A. Shrader took the first premium and L. L. Dorsey the second.

The ring for 2 year old mares had six entries; S. R. Grundy, of Washington, took the first premium, and E. L. Dorsey, of Jefferson, the second.

Six mares of 1 to 2 years old were entered; J. H. Headley, of Fayette, took the first premium; A. L. Tichenor, of Nelson, the second.

Six fillies under 1 year old competed; the first premium was won by John P. Hildreth, of Bourbon, and the second by J. S. Calloway, of Henry.

Eighteen geldings of 4 years and over entered and made a fine show. It was difficult to judge where there were so many excellent animals, but the first premium was awarded to a superb light sorrel, the property of Mrs. E. L. Huffman, of our city, amid the loud cheers of the audience. We must congratulate the lady upon her success, the joy of which was shared by many on the ground who had been the recipients of the munificent hospitality of herself and generous husband at the dining bower. Mr. E. S. Muir, of Fayette, bore off the second premium.

Seven three year old geldings were entered; J. L. Downing, of Fayette, took the first premium, and H. F. Pettit, of the same county, the second—a highly creditable achievement for Fayette.

The first premium for 2 year old geldings was taken by E. P. Gaines, of Fayette, and the second by L. L. Dorsey, of Jefferson.

The next ring was a superb one. Eleven pairs of matched horses were entered for competition; glorious, spirited animals, fit to draw kings or emperors, and graceful as the wild steeds of Arabia. They were repeatedly driven around the amphitheatre for the gratification of the audience, and bouquets were thrown at the favorite pairs as they passed the galleries where God's last, best gifts to man were arrayed in constellations of unequaled brilliancy and loveliness. If ever there should be a ring opened for female beauty to compete in, we shall go all our pile and all we can borrow on Kentucky. In all kinds of stock and in magnificent women, she beats the world! Huzza for Old Kentuck—her fleet horses, her massive oxen, and her angelic women! Huzza! three times and a Tiger! There! we have been thinking it all day, and now we have recorded our opinion, and we profess to be competent judges both from experience and observation. After consultation, the judges awarded the first premium to the noble bay matches of Mrs. B. J. Adams, of our city, and the decision of the judges was responded to by a shout of approval, clapping of hands, and waving of handkerchiefs. We must again tender congratulations to a fair citizeness. The pair are of unsurpassed grace, beauty, and bearing, and they seem to know their destiny and be proud of it in carrying so much feminine excellence and high womanly intelligence. West & Long, of Scott county, bore off the second premium, and there were five or six others deserving of honorable mention. It was no discredit to be beaten in such a ring.

Three match pairs of mares were entered. R. D. Pepper, of Woodford, obtained the first premium, and David Ellis, of Henry, the second.

There were three entries of buggy horses, in which ring C. F. Marr, of Scott, took the first premium, and R. D. Pepper the second.

This ended the horse display for the day, and the Marshal announced that on Friday and Saturday there would be some rings of the same animals displayed superior to any other that had ever been seen in our State.

When some shipwrecked traveler, we think it was Riley, after being cast ashore on the northern coast of Africa, found his way to the Mediterranean sea, the first evidence of his return to civilization was the sight of a gallows. So we may regard "Gallus," the cock, as the great emblem of national progress, and we do not wonder therefore that he has been chosen as the emblem of royal dignity and political exaltation. The Democracy of our country has long had the cock as its type ever since Chapman so imploringly was begged to crow. France has it emblazoned on her proudest escutcheon, and Minerva, the goddess of wisdom, is never seen without it in her train. "A gallows fellow" is the synonym of a dead cock in the pit of respectability. A "hearty old cock," or the salutation, "how are you, old cock?" tell their own story. A chicken-hearted man is one who is a "bad egg," and a hen-pecked husband is regarded as one monstrari digito—we beg our sentor's pardon, but the Latin slipped off our pencil before we thought, and cannot be recalled, for we are writing at such a swinging pace that the best nag could not keep up with us. We, however, will translate: he is a man to have the finger pointed at. But the strongest evidence of the ascendancy of Gallus, is to be found in the name of that invigorating drink which topers love, early in the morning, the "cock-tail"—glorious compound! superb concoction! homan ambrosia! nectar of the Gods! John Randolph when he used to call for "more porter, Tomms," never felt the glow of delight the old toper enjoys, when he orders his first "cocktail" before breakfast. We went over to the Floral Hall, therefore, in high expectation of seeing a lively competition, but we were disappointed. Only six cages of poultry were entered, consisting of Polish ducks, Muscovies, Bramah chickens, turkeys, and Dorking chickens. They were all very fine, however. We then wended our way homeward, having satisfied ourselves with sights of fur, hide, and feather, and having the tin recalled to our minds by being as dry as a fish.

The attraction to-day will be fine, and we anticipate another crowd on the grounds.

The following is the programme for to-day:

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

There were only 20 inches water in the canal last evening by the mark, but boats drawing two feet and over manage to go through. Capt. Lockhart has still a large force employed on the canal and keeps it closed during the day.

The fine steamer Poland is the packet for Cairo to-day at 4 P. M. She will take passengers to the steamer Woodford, and take no freight whatever. She will go through with little detention. Capt. Gracey commands, and Mr. Frisbee has charge of the office.

The Arkansaw Traveler will also leave for Cairo to-day.

The Hazel Dell is the packet for Owensboro'.

The Hastings is the mailboat for Cincinnati.

The Red Wing was sold by Capt. Woodburne on Wednesday to Com. F. Dean and Capt. John D. Adams for $10,000 cash. She is intended for the Arkansas river U. S. mail trade.

LADIES' OYSTER SALOON.—Mr. Stephens, whose confectionery is on Third street, adjoining the old postoffice building, has opened an oyster saloon for ladies. We can recommend him. He makes every effort to satisfy his customers.

☞Dr. Hulce has purchased a large residence on Jefferson street, near Floyd, near the Railroad Depot, where he is building a spacious office.

A remarkable and highly important feature in Dr. H's practice is that persons cured by him, even as far back as twenty years, remain well. Nor is it less gratifying to learn that he continues to cure with uniform success diseases of the eye, diseases of the throat and lungs, diseases of the stomach and bowels, fistula, scrofula, cancerous affections, and other diseases hitherto considered incurable, excepting only those occasioned by mal-practice, or who have passed the curable stage. Dr. H.'s early practices embraced all forms of acute diseases, and all forms of chronic diseases, which is still the common practice of educated Physicians; but for many years past Dr. H. has devoted his time exclusively to the treatment of chronic diseases, or derangements of the human machine, which is a living machine, governed by definite laws, and can only be regulated by those who understand its mechanism and laws that govern it; hence, he considers the common idea of skill arising from special physicians for special disease, infantile and absurd. It may also be safely stated that, considering Dr. H.'s open candor, the mildness, and certainty, and permanency of his cure, he stands unrivalled, and that every year adds strength to his justly merited reputation. oc1 d&w

☞A German named Edward Tuss committed suicide at Memphis on Sunday. The Avalanche says that he came to this country about two years since, accompanied by his wife and one child, possessing the handsome sum of ten thousand dollars. Settling in the city of Chicago, he made an unlucky investment of his entire fortune, and the consequence was he became bankrupt. He then disposed of all the effects left him, and with his family moved to Paducah, Ky., where his wife solicited a class in music, and, obtaining a number of scholars, remained in that place, while he left for Memphis for the purpose of securing employment. Being unable to procure work of any kind, and becoming tired of this wretched existence, he ended it by a pistol ball through his temple.

We should not be surprised if Tuss was the same man who was arrested some time ago at Paducah at the instance of the Prussian minister at Washington a charge of defrauding the Prussian government.

☞A serious accident occurred at Cincinnati on Wednesday night during a political procession. In it were three express wagons, each containing cannon, which were fired over the tail-board of the wagons. Upon the outside of the box was the fire-pan and heating iron, and the cartridges were carelessly placed in the bottom of the wagon. In passing the heated iron from the fire-pan to the gun, a spark fell amongst the powder, some fifteen or twenty pounds in quantity, and a terrible explosion followed. Lewis P. Lee, who was engaged in firing the gun, was blown out of the wagon, and fell upon the sidewalk several feet distant. His clothes were almost entirely burned from his body. His face and head, abdomen, and in fact nearly the entire upper portion of his body were burned and blackened in a horrible manner. Mr. Hume and Mr. Kirkup were also blown out of the wagon, but were less seriously injured.

KARL FORMES' MAMMOTH CONCERT.—The announcement of the forthcoming musical festival of the great basso, assisted by Miss Hattie Andem, Madame Schuman, M. Perring, Mr. Carl Bergman, Theo. Thomas, and the grand orchestra of the New York Academy, under the direction of Carl Anschutz, and composed of the principal soloists in America, has caused an unusual excitement in our city, and we feel sure they will be greeted by a house overflowing with the fashion and musical connoisseurs of our city.

Karl Formes' personal history as well as his great musical powers, has rendered him a man in whom the public take no ordinary interest. His father and grandfather were both soldiers, the former under the banner of Napoleon, and he has inherited the ardor of his disposition and the executive energy of his character from his ancestor. An intense thirst for freedom and hatred of oppression mark his character. At Vienna he held the topmost position in that musical world for four years. When the revolution of 1848 broke out, the spirit inherited by the young artist did not leave him at this juncture. In the enthusiasm of his nature, he went up to the popular wave, and in the struggle sided with the cause of the people, being amongst the foremost in erecting the barricades for their defence and protection. At such a moment art was not hallowed in his eyes, his own position as an artist was forgotten and abjured. The cause of humanity only was present with him, and for that he was willing to peril all he possessed, all he hoped, and even life itself. Vienna surrendering, Formes departed for Holstein, where he became foremost in the association of Tamm, still hopeful for freedom, and firmly determined to sustain it till despotism proved its strength and resistance to it was useless. Formes then resumed the pursuit of his art till his name became familiar wherever civilization has introduced the refinements of art. The antagonistic position of Formes toward the Austrian government, could not be forgotten, and his extradition was insisted upon as due to offended majesty. Accordingly he hastened to London, and there, in 1849, formed the celebrated German Opera Company at Drury Lane. In that association of artists, were those whose talents were of the highest order. Cavalori and Redersdorf, were the prime donnas, while Reichardt was the tenor and Anschutz the conductor.

In England his reputation was at once established. His magnificent voice rising majestically above organ and orchestra, made an oratorio incomplete without him. He has come to America, and depending upon his talent. It is the most attractive vocalist of the age in the role which he assumes. His songs are a treat and he sings English with wonderful effect, assisted as he is by the accompaniment of the best talent from the New York Academy, comprising the leading artistes and a full orchestra under Anschutz, there can be no doubt that his entertainments will present the greatest musical attraction possible.

The sale of seats will be continued at D. P. Faulds & Co.'s, where also may be had the $1 tickets. Seats and tickets may likewise be had at the door.

☞The Sons of Malta had a grand procession at Cincinnati on Wednesday night. The Gazette says:

We hardly know how to describe the brotherhood. Mysterious they were in the fullest sense of the word. Darkly, deeply masked, with robes of white reaching nearly to the heels, they excited curiosity as all mysterious movements do. Grand Commanders and officers in position, marched along in the coats of mail and drawn swords, as though they were indeed "Knights" of olden time, ready to break a lance in defence of honor, state, or beauty.

There were cocked hats, straight hats, no hats, cowls, gowns, and regalia, and one was reminded of the mysterious procession of monks in the play of Lucretia Borgia, which inspired so great an awe at the supper party who were doomed by the remorseless woman. We hardly know how to characterize the display. It was novel and attractive, yet failed to inspire any one with a sense of its dignity or appropriateness. There was nothing to see and yet everybody looked with wide-strained eyes for something that should make them stand aghast, and raise each individual hair "like quills upon the fretful porcupine." There was something suggestive in the long white night-gowns, but the heavy stogy boots that followed in the measured tread to the music of the bands, dispelled any illusion of the brain that fancy may have conjured up.

A NEGRO BOY TAKEN FROM HIS MASTER IN CANADA.—We learn from conductor G. S. Goodrich, the following particulars of an affair that occurred at Chatham yesterday afternoon: A party of Southerners were on the express train due at Windsor at 5:15 P. M., and one of them had a mulatto servant, a boy of ten years, along with him. At London, a colored man was observed in conversation with the boy, while standing upon the platform. No suspicion was excited by this, however, but when the train reached Chatham, where it stops to wood and water, it was instantly surrounded by a tumultuous gathering of three or four hundred colored people, evidently laboring under great excitement. A white man, representing himself to be the sheriff of the town, entered the car where the gentleman and his servant sat, followed by a crowd of colored men. One of the latter individuals asked the boy to come out. He replied that he would not, and clung to his master. In the meantime, those outside were shouting, "Bring him out," &c., and revolvers were freely shown by the negroes outside as well as in. The boy was taken out, crying, and endeavoring to cling to his master, and borne away by the crowd. The train then started, and the gentleman, whose name is W. R. Merwin, and residence St. Louis, came on to this city, and is now stopping at the Russell House.

Passengers on the train state that no blame can be attached to conductor Goodrich, as the crowd was so large that any effort to repel them by the hands upon the train would have been entire folly.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,

Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, No. 418 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pa.

READ WHAT IS SAID OF THEM.

SCOTT, Cortland co., N. Y., March 31, 1858.

DR. C. M. JACKSON—Dear Sir: In behalf of the afflicted, I pen a few lines to you. I have suffered and doctored myself, and know how to pity those in a like condition. Until I commenced taking your Bitters last summer, I was not able to do anything or even to sit up any considerable length of time. Before I had taken the first bottle I felt like a new man, and now, after having continued the use of them a short time, in the worst season of the year, I am able to labor hard every day. To say the least, I think I have received more benefit from the Bitters than all other medicines I have taken. I have not only used your Bitters myself, but have given bottles and parts of bottles to those complaining of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, and in every case they tell me they have taken no medicine so beneficial as the Bitters.

Respectfully yours, JAMES VON BENSCHOTER.

The Bitters are sold by druggists and storekeepers in every town and village in the United States, Canadas, West Indies, and South America at 75 cents per bottle.

CHILLS AND FEVER! CHILLS AND FEVER! CHILLS AND FEVER!—One of the greatest remedies that has ever been laid before the public for Fever and Ague, and which has received the highest commendation from the press and the people, is DR. J. HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED BITTERS. Who would endure the torture arising from this terrible disease, when it can be so easily cured? Who would endure sleepless nights, burning fevers, and icy chills alternately, when a remedy can be obtained for a mere trifle? And yet how many families linger out a painful existence under this deadly blight, and do nothing but drop down quinine until it becomes as common as their daily meals, and yet they are not relieved. None but the foolish and weak would hesitate to procure this valuable Bitters, and save themselves untold agony.

☞RED RIVER MUSKETOES.—Charlie said he elected the bar of every mosquito except two, and, thinking they could do but little harm, he went to sleep; but, waking up in the night, he found himself completely "hot up." Thinking it strange that two musketoes could have drawn so much blood, he concluded to watch their motions, and soon discovered that they would light on him and draw their fill and then fly up on the bar and, thrusting their bills through a mesh, the crowd of outsiders would pitch in and draw them off. They were then ready to repeat the operation. Charlie recognized one of those same musketoes skulking behind the door at WEBSTER's GALLERY waiting to get a bite at some of those colored Photographs. aug11dtf

DYSPEPSIA AND FITS.

Dr. O. PHELPS BROWN,

THE GREAT CURE OF CONSUMPTION, was for several years so badly afflicted by Dyspepsia that for a part of the time he was confined to his bed. He was eventually cured by a prescription furnished him by a young clairvoyant girl. This prescription, given him by a mere child, while in a state of trance, has cured everybody who has taken it, never having failed once. It is equally as sure in cases of Fits as of DYSPEPSIA. The ingredients may be found in any drug store. I will send this valuable prescription to any person on the receipt of one stamp to pay postage. Address DR. O. PHELPS BROWN,

THE ELIXIR

Prepared by Dr. JAS. WILLIAMS, for the cure of DYSPEPSIA, and not the DYSPEPSY (as advertised in another column), has, by its own merits, obtained for itself so high a reputation in Philadelphia, that Physicians acquainted with it prescribe it using it themselves and prescribing it to their patients, convinced, by observation of its great efficacy in restoring the disordered digestive organs to healthy function. Numerous cases of dyspepsy of the most aggravated character, which were abandoned as incurable by some of the Medical Faculty, have, by the use of this Elixir been restored to perfect health, as attested certificates testify. s dly

BY TELEGRAPH.

From the Evening Bulletin.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30.

Alfred Vezin, one of the rescued passengers of the Austria, states that when the metallic life boat, containing among other persons the first officer of the Austria, Mr. Hahn, came up, and after the occupants had been taken on board, this officer deliberately cut the boat adrift, notwithstanding he was informed by the sailors who had just left the burning vessel that there were at least sixty or seventy persons still clinging to the wreck. After this act of the first officer, the Captain of the Maurice set sail with his crew toward the Azores, but in the morning returned to the neighborhood of the disaster, where the Austria was still found in flames.

The Norwegian bark was met here, but Mr. Vesein could not tell if she saved any lives. Mr. Vesein states that shortly after the fire broke out one of the wooden boats was safely lowered and left the steamship with four or five persons, among the rest a Mr. Hoxie. There is no account of this boat having been picked up. The only attempt to extinguish the fire on board was made by a number of first cabin passengers, who threw several buckets of water on the flames, but, of course, without avail. Mr. Vesein is confident that there were but few life preservers on board the Austria. He examined his own stateroom several times without finding any. Those who attempted to sustain themselves with chairs and stools found them of no use.

Among the passengers who took passage on the Austria at Hamburg was Dr. Richard Seldener, of Philadelphia, whose name has not yet been published as among the passengers, and who is believed to have perished. A revised list of the passengers of the Austria is not heard of and is supposed to be lost, included the following names. Anna Papers and three children, of St. Louis; Marie Hetken, of Louis; Theodore Gerseke, John Weisman, Mrs. D. Wachmann and children, and Weir Neckman, all of Baltimore; M. Weinberg, of Alexandria, Va.; Mrs. Reickard and children, of Alexandria; F. Williams and three children, of Washington, D. C.; F. R. Heckman, of Cincinnati; Carl Meyer, of New Orleans.

There is a possibility of the safety of others besides those already known, as one boat was seen several miles astern of the steamship, with six or eight in it. That boat has not been heard from. There is also a possibility that some of those left clinging to the burning steamer at night till by the bark Maurice may have been rescued by the Norwegian brig next morning.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.—We make the following extracts from the editorial columns of the London Observer:

To ascertain the spot at which the lightning leaves its track, and escapes into the depth of the Atlantic, is a task which would appear to be even more difficult than for the manager at Euston station to learn, without the aid of telegraph or other communication, the place where the express train had left the line by some unhappy accident, after it had started on its journey to the North. Strange as it may seem, the electrician has the power of ascertaining, by means of the electric fluid itself, the locality of the tiny outlet, by which it escapes into the sea. Some time since a most ingenious piece of mechanism was made, by which the electricity could be weighed, the fluid being made to act upon a magnet; and this, upon the end of a nicely poised steel yard, would tell with accuracy the weight of the current transmitted from the other end of the wire at a long distance.

Following out this experiment, we believe first shown by Professor Faraday, at the Royal Institution, other electricians have arranged a very sensitive piece of machinery, by which the amount of resistance opposed to the passage of the electricity by the conducting wire may be correctly ascertained. The amount of resistance offered through the whole length of the Atlantic cable, or even one half of it, is something very much larger than any which can be marked by the delicate machinery hitherto employed upon shorter distances of wire. The consequence is that the electricians have not yet been able satisfactorily to ascertain the place where the cable is defective. Of one thing, however, they are certain, that is, that the fault does not occur within twenty or thirty miles of the land, and we are informed that within the first two or three hundred miles the continuity is still perfect and complete.

Beyond this distance all is still doubt and uncertainty, and it is idle at present to speculate upon the subject. Should the defect be found to exist in the deep parts of the sea, the public must be content to hear that for the present the Atlantic telegraph is a failure. It will not be possible to raise the sunken portion of the wire, or repair it, when laid in great depths. Within a few miles of the shore the wire may be under-run; but when it has been sunk at the depth of two or three miles below the surface, the great length of cable which would be suspended, and the resistance which the water would give to its rising, would produce a strain upon the wire much greater than its strength would bear. A cable which would be strong enough to sustain its own weight while sinking, might not possess the requisite strength to a point of its being hauled up through the water.

FROM TEXAS.—The Indianola (Texas) Courier says of the German boy who has been recently arrested there for mail robbery:

A more simple, unsophisticated creature we have rarely ever seen. He is a German, whose parents live in San Antonio, and not possessing even the rudiments of an English education, and why the postmaster at San Antonio should have ever employed him at that department we can't conceive. He was frequently interrogated as to why and how he had abstracted the drafts, &c., to which interrogatories he always responded without hesitation. He said that it was his intention to go back to his uncle in Germany, and not use the drafts in this country, believing they would be converted into money there without any sort of difficulty.

He was handed a sealed letter by one of our citizens, and asked to show how he opened letters without mutilating them. He took out his knife, and in a moment's time opened it with the greatest dexterity, not mutilating it in the slightest. He was frequently asked if he had not accomplices. He stated most positively that no human being except himself knew anything of his peculations.

The Austin State Gazette says that Dr. B. F. Shumard has accepted the office of State Geologist.

The Galveston papers continue reporting deaths from yellow fever in that city. The News, of the 21st, says, "We hear of many new cases, but they are generally quite light attacks and are easily managed."

The Richmond Reporter learns that five cases of yellow fever have occurred in Hempstead since the death of Col. Fields.

The Houston Telegraph of the 20th, says:

There was a case of yellow fever, which terminated fatally, at the hospital, this morning. We hear, on the street, another case which developed itself a day or two since, but will not report it till we get definite information. There are no new cases to-day.

☞The New Orleans Picayune, of last Sunday, says:

BELL CREVASSE.—A friend, who visited this scene of disaster day before yesterday, gives us some details of its present appearance

The crevasse is about three hundred feet wide at its opening on the river, and extends back a quarter of a mile to the Opelousas railroad track, varying in depth from five to forty feet. The surface soil of Mr. Bell's plantation is entirely washed away for nearly half a mile back from the river, and the mass of logs and drift wood scattered about gives the place the appearance of the mouth of the Mississippi through the pass called the "Jump."

The deposit of earth made by the water is entirely in the woods; just the place, as Mr. Bell informed our friend, where he wanted such an accumulation of soil, and by which means a large tract of land is reclaimed that was formerly useless. The heaviest deposit of soil is, however, above and below the crevasse. The property next below Mr. Bell's is much improved by it. The "Harvey Canal," on which so much money has been spent in the last five years, to render it of use to the many fine plantations of the interior, has, it would appear, been much injured by the crevasse.

To the Penitentiary for Four Years.—At the present term of the Boone Circuit Court, held in Lebanon, George H. Johnston, who has frequently been in the hands of the police of this city, was sentenced to the Penitentiary for a term of four years. He has been concerned in the Western Exchange Bank of this city, a bogus concern, whose shinplaster issues have been scattered broadcast in various portions of the State. We notice that since his sentence the "bank" has been "closed," and, undoubtedly, the disposition made of Johnston by the Court will materially affect the redemption of its issues. This bank, through Johnston, Hamer its "cashier," and others, has been the means of swindling many honest men out of money "in exchange," and out of valuable articles taken for its bogus bills. It is strongly suspected to be a Lecompton Democratic institution, and closely connected with some operations which will be revealed before long in reference to the approaching election. Look out for Lecompton frauds wherever this bogus money is in circulation!

Johnston was sentenced for obtaining goods under false pretences at Crawfordsville—having given the issues of the "Western Exchange" for valuable articles.—Indianapolis Journal.

Another Steamboat Murder.—Frank Dillon was murdered last Wednesday, on board the steamboat Maria Denning, by a watchman on the boat named Henry Lowry. An inquest was held on the body yesterday, in this city, by L. S. Houghton, and it appeared that the murder was a most brutal one, the man having been kicked and cuffed to death, and the murderer allowed to escape in the boat's yawl.—Vicksburg Whig.

We are happy to have it in our power to state that the condition of General Scott is far from being as alarming as is here represented. He is rapidly recovering from the effects of his fall; he sits up more or less every day, and the pain, which affects him only when in motion, is rapidly subsiding. He is in excellent spirits, and expects to be able to return to town in a day or two.—N. Y. Post.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

☞Citizens and strangers who have not already visited Mechanics' Hall, on the State Fair Grounds, should go immediately and see the great curiosity of the day, the modern premium Bank Safe, manufactured by Messrs. Urban, Dodds, & Co., Cincinnati, Ohio. This safe, we understand, is now for sale—price $1000. Mr. E. W. Neff, agent for the manufacturers, will be on hand and take pleasure in showing the safe to all those who may give him a call.

LARGE CROWD.—The city is now full of strangers visiting the State Fair. Among the labor-saving machines attracting especial attention, is a washing machine, manufactured by R. D. Porter, of this city. This machine is now having a rapid sale and is very popular among those who have them in use. The remark is made every day, by persons who have the machine in use, "that they could not do without it," and wonder that any housekeeper would be satisfied to have their washing done in the old way when so much hard labor can be saved every week by the use of this machine, which does the work quick and well, and does not break buttons or wear out the clothes. The machine can be seen in operation at the Agricultural Fair every day, and at the Mechanics' Fair at night, and at the office of the proprietor, 96 Third street.

WANTED.—We beg leave to call the attention of the public to the advertisement of T. C. Pomeroy, real estate agent, corner of Fifth and Jefferson streets, who offers for sale one of the most beautiful and desirable suburban residences in the State, situated in a delightful neighborhood, and overlooking the entire city and country for miles around. So rare a chance of purchasing such a mansion is seldom offered. The grounds are beautifully laid out and ornamented with every variety of choice evergreens, fruits, and flowers to be found in the United States. Those wishing a comfortable home, wherein they can enjoy a country or city life, should call on Mr. Pomeroy without delay and examine the premises. We know a great bargain can be had, as the owner is determined to sell. sep28 d

Sales of raw whisky at 19¾c.

Sales of 100 bales Canneiton batting at 12¾c and 10 bales sheetings at 8¾c.

The New York Journal of Commerce, of Tuesday evening, says:

There is a steady demand for money and rates of interest continue in favor of the lender, although for short dates and on call, capital is very freely offered.

We quote—	Per ct. per annum
Loans on call, stock securities	3 to 4½
Do. do. other good securities	4 to 5
Prime endorsed bills, 60@90 days	4 to 5
Do. do. 4@6 months	5 to 6
First class single signatures	5 to 6
Other good bills	7 to 9
Names less known	9 to 12

Foreign exchange is a little more inquired for, but the bulk of the demand is for commercial bills. We quote bills at 60 days on London 109¼@110 for commercial signatures, 110@110¼ for bankers, some asking 110½.

The stock market advanced this morning, nearly every thing on the list showing a decided improvement.

Lumber Cheaper Still!

THERE is now no use to go to Cincinnati or anywhere else for lumber, for you can get it at CALDWELL & SON'S New Circular Saw Mill, situated on the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, about 30 miles from Louisville. It cuts from 6,000 to 12,000 feet per day. Poplar and Oak timber is abundant in the vicinity of the mill. All who desire to build houses or manufacture agricultural implements, send on your orders and have them promptly filled by CALDWELL & SON.

LOUISVILLE BONE MILL,
CORNER TWENTY-FIRST AND GRAYSON STS.

I BEG leave to inform all those engaged in farming and gardening that I keep constantly on hand a large quantity of the justly celebrated MANURE, and would respectfully solicit their patronage.

In England, Germany, and in the Eastern States of this country, this kind of Manure has been used for many years with the greatest success. The best way to use it is to strew from 400 to 500 pounds per acre in the fall, and plow as deep as practicable; for Trees, it is very profitable to use two pounds in the bottom of each hole; for Corn and Tobacco, put a handful in each hill; for Potatoes, Celery, &c., strew thinly in drills or furrows. It is of great use for vines with this Manure in the hanging of it—the farmer being enabled to take at one load, in a two horse wagon, the equivalent of twenty to twenty-five loads of horse or common stable manure.

I am prepared to furnish any desired quantity, at the shortest notice.

SALE OF THE LEXINGTON AND DANVILLE RAILROAD.

J. Pannell and L. Seymour, Plaintiffs, vs.
The Lexington and Danville Railroad Company and others, Defendants.

BY virtue of the judgment rendered by the Fayette Circuit Court, in the above case, at its August term, I will sell at public auction, ON THURSDAY, THE 18TH OF NOVEMBER, 1858, at the court-house door in Lexington, Ky., THE LEXINGTON AND DANVILLE RAILROAD (so far as the same is completed and the part unfinished), between Lexington and Danville, and including the road bed and superstructure where the same is laid down, the right of way, and all the land of the company in and adjacent to the road track, with all the bridges, stations, car houses, wharves, bridges, fences, warehouses, fixtures, and other improvements belonging to said road, together with all the franchises, rights, and privileges of the Lexington and Danville Railroad Company.

Also, all the Rolling Stock of the Company, consisting of one Locomotive and six Platform Cars; two Hand Cars and a lot of tools and machinery, and sundry castings, quantity of shop tools and machinery, and sundry castings, all of which will be sold together in one lot, except that, if it should be deemed advisable, that part of the road with its appurtenances will be sold separately, which includes the approaches of the bridge on the north side of the Kentucky river, and thence to Danville; and also portions of the Lease property.

At the same time and place, I will sell separately and in suitable lots, about 20,000 Cross Ties lying along the line of the road between Nicholasville and the Kentucky river—a large quantity of Wire, Wire Rope, and Bridge Timber at the Kentucky river, intended for the bridge; sundry houses, shops, and chattels at and beyond the river. A large lot of Chairs and Spikes and [illegible] tons of Iron Rails.

Terms—The sale will be on credits of 4, 8, 12, 15, 20, and 24 months, in equal installments, the purchaser executing bonds, with good security, bearing six per cent. interest from the day of sale, and with good security, to be approved by me, of one or more of the following kinds, viz: 1st. Personal security; 2d. Bonds of the Lexington & Danville Railroad Company, of the Lexington and Frankfort Railroad Company, of the Louisville & Frankfort Railroad Company, or of the Covington & Lexington Railroad Company; 3d. Mortgages on real estate in counties near this railroad, or in Jefferson or Kenton; 4th State and United States bonds.

Possession of the property will be delivered immediately on compliance with the terms of sale. The railroad is completed and in running order from Lexington to Nicholasville and this part of it is under a lease to the Covington and Lexington Railroad Company, terminable on six months' notice; and possession of this part will be given by a transfer of the lease with the right to receive the future profits.

The road is also graded ready for the iron from Nicholasville to the river—and the Suspension Bridge, towers, and anchorage completed. There has been expended for construction on this road over $700,000—a fair price for labor. The property will be exhibited to persons desirous of purchasing by Gen. Leslie Combs, to whom, as well as to the undersigned, at Lexington, letters of inquiry may be addressed.

COAL! COAL! COAL!

WM. L. MURPHY keeps constantly on hand a large supply of the best Pittsburg and Youghiogheny Coal, also the "Hartford City," none better for steam or cooking purposes; used by many families in the city, who pronounce it nearly equal to Pittsburg and superior to any other now in use for steam and family purposes. All I ask is a fair trial of it, and I warrant it will give satisfaction. Wholesale and retail at the lowest cash prices. Office east side Fourth street, below Main. may 8 dly

Montreal Ocean Steamship Company's STEAMSHIPS.

ANGLO-SAXON, INDIAN, BOHEMIAN (new), NOVA SCOTIAN (new), NORTH AMERICAN, NORTH BRITON (new), HUNGARIAN (new), and CANADIAN (new), running in connection with the GRAND TRUNK RAILROAD of Canada, under contract with the Canadian Government to transport the mails.

DATES OF SAILING.

FROM QUEBEC.	FROM LIVERPOOL.
Every alternate Saturday from the 22d day of May to the 20th of November inclusive.	Every alternate Wednesday from the 20th day of April to the 20th of October inclusive.

During the winter months these vessels connect with the GRAND TRUNK RAILROADS at Portland.

RATES OF PASSAGE.

From Chicago to Liverpool via Michigan Central, Great Western, and Grand Trunk Railroads and Steamers:

1st Class.......... $80 to $100
according to accommodation.

Steerage.......... $47
including cooked provisions.

From Liverpool to Chicago via Steamers and Railroads:

1st Class.......... $85 to $1[illegible] 75
according to accommodation.

Steerage.......... $51 25
including cooked provisions.

A fully qualified Surgeon sails in each vessel.

Each passenger ticketed through will be allowed the same quantity of baggage free by Railroads as by Steamer, viz: 20 cubic feet for each cabin and 10 feet for each steerage passenger.

Special trains from Quebec with the mails and passengers are dispatched on the arrival of each steamer.

It will be observed from the following table that the Canadian Line has beaten every other in crossing the Atlantic. The average passages of the Cunard and Collins lines as by the annual tables in the N. Y. Herald during 1857, being—

EASTWARD.	WESTWARD.
Collins line....11d 22h 20m	Collins line....13d 1[illegible]h 0m
Cunard do N. Y....11d 20h 3m	Cunard do N. Y....12d 15h 4m

Brown's Essence of Jamaica Ginger,

FREDERICK BROWN, Chemist and Druggist, northeast corner of Chestnut and Fifth streets, Philadelphia, sole manufacturer of Brown's Essence of Jamaica Ginger, which is recognized and prescribed by the Medical Faculty, and has become the standard Family Medicine of the United States.

This Essence is a preparation of unusual excellence. In ordinary diarrhea, incipient cholera, in short, in all cases of prostration of the digestive functions, it is of inestimable value. During the prevalence of epidemic cholera and summer complaints of children, it is peculiarly efficacious; no family, individual, or traveler should be without it.

NOTICE—To prevent this valuable Essence from being counterfeited, a new steel engraving, executed at a great cost, will be found on the outside of the wrapper, in order to guard the purchaser against being imposed upon by worthless imitations. 1855.

Prepared only by FREDERICK BROWN, and for sale at his Drug and Chemical store, northeast corner of Fifth and Chestnut streets, Philadelphia. Also for sale by all respectable Druggists in Kentucky and in the United States. may19 d6m

SEAL

Be it remembered that on the eleventh day of April, A. D. 1856, before me, Ch. McClure Hays, a Commissioner in the State of Pennsylvania for the State of Kentucky, duly authorized and commissioned by the Governor of Kentucky, and under the laws thereof to take acknowledgements of deeds, &c., to be used or recorded therein, personally came Geo. W. Cass, who, being duly sworn according to law, says that the foregoing statement within is true to the best of his knowledge and belief, and has such sworn and subscribed before me.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal the day and year above written.

CH. McCLURE HAYS,
Com. for Kentucky in Pennsylvania.

The above and foregoing statement of the affairs of the "Adams Express Co." was produced to me in my office and filed. Witness my hand, this 25th day of April, 1856.

Sewing Machines.

"THE greatest good to the greatest number." It is an undoubted fact that the $100 Sewing Machines are utterly beyond the reach of nine-tenths of the people. The people will have a Sewing Machine at a low price, hence more simple in its construction and more easily kept in order. Go and see the EMPIRE FAMILY SEWING MACHINE at No. 8 Masonic Temple, Fourth street. It is equal in its execution to the $100 Machines and offered for $50 by M. NAUGHTAN & CO.

☞ Agents wanted for the sale of this Machine throughout the State of Kentucky.

Boots and Shoes.

Those in want of Boots and Shoes of all styles and qualities are reminded that they can be suited by calling at the old stand of the house of 15 years' standing, No. 449 Market street, near Fourth. I am daily making additions to my already large stock. Call and get the worth of your money.
